Voting To Be Held Sunday

Plans Made For Elections Despite Enemy's Offensive

SAIGON (AP) — The enemy's spring offensive continued for its seventh day today, but the Saigon government went ahead with plans to hold local elections Sunday in 3,500 hamlets and villages.

Viet Cong and North Vietnamese gunners intensified their rocket and mortar attacks, hitting more than 50 towns and bases in South Vietnam during the night the U.S. Command said. Casualties were light and no ground probes were reported.

U.S. military analysts reported four divisions, predominantly North Vietnamese but including Viet Cong veterans, have moved into South Vietnam from Cambodia. And there were new indications that North Vietnamese troops were slipping through the demilitarized zone.

The elections, scheduled for four consecutive Sundays in the 3,500 communities the government claims to control, are the first since they were suspended 13 years ago due to Viet Cong terrorism. Local officials have been appointed in those communities during the interim.

The effect of the offensive on the elections probably won't be clear until all the votes are in several weeks from now.

The most significant ground action reported today occurred six miles southeast of the DMZ where U.S. tanks, bombers and artillery attacked about 150 North Vietnamese soldiers in bunkers Friday.

Troops of the 5th Cavalry reported killing at least 60 enemy soldiers in the 2½-hour battle. U.S. losses were one killed and eight wounded.

American forces reported killing 55 enemy troops in three fights 26 to 35 miles northwest of Saigon. Three Americans were killed and five were wounded.

U.S. bases in Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city, came under attack for the sixth night in a row.

Associated Press correspondent Edwin Q. White reported that 19 rounds of 140mm rockets smashed into the Marine Corps' sprawling supply depot just north of the city. Light casualties and damage were reported.

U.S. and South Vietnamese sources estimate that 6,600 enemy troops have been killed since the offensive began, compared to 538 South Vietnamese soldiers and more than 300 Americans.

The Viet Cong claimed it has killed 9,800 allied troops since the start of the offensive.

The government said overnight shelling of five provincial capitals, a district capital and terrorist raids in two other towns killed at least 12 civilians and wounded 82. Allied communiques put the number of civilians killed at 400 since last Sunday, plus another 1,095 wounded.

Board Plans Decision On School Levy

A decision on submitting levy proposals in the May primary election is expected at a meeting of the East Liverpool board of education Monday night.

An 11-mill levy and a 1-mill levy, representing $599,000 in school operating funds — more than half of the local tax revenue for the school district — expire this year.

The board will decide on whether to submit both levies in May or to seek renewal of the two levies plus an additional levy it is believed is needed to finance school programs.

The two renewals and a proposed new 7-mill levy to meet minimum state standards were defeated by voters last September.

'Black Lung' Bill Approved By West Virginia's House

BERLIN (AP) — A two-hour blockade of autobahn traffic by East German soldiers coincided today with reaffirmation of their determination to maintain unhindered access between West Berlin and West Germany.

The United States, Britain and France rejected as groundless Soviet charges of West German military activity in the isolated former German capital.

"It is only in the eastern (Communist) sector of Berlin that organized military activity has taken place," the three declared in a joint statement issued through their embassies in Bonn.

"The three governments hope that these Soviet charges are not intended to create international tensions. It is not the desire of the three governments to see such an increase in tension occur."

"The three governments reaffirm their determination to maintain a viable Berlin with free access."

After Blockade

West Berlin's Mayor, Klaus Schuetz, told newsmen he is convinced his city is not confronted by a grave new crisis, but rather is being subjected to a war of nerves, "below the level of a serious confrontation."

Speaking after meeting with his city government and with U.S., British and French envoys, Schuetz said, however, further "short-term disturbances like this morning can be repeated."

East German soldiers armed with submachine guns blocked the main highway between West Germany and West Berlin at the Helmstedt crossing point from 7 a.m. to 9 a.m. Then they reopened it.

The closure followed a Soviet announcement backing "necessary measures to cut short the unlawful militaristic activities" in West Berlin and an accusation from Moscow that Western air links to the isolated city were being used illegally.

It apparently signaled the start of maneuvers by Soviet and East German Warsaw Pact forces. The maneuvers in East Germany have been scheduled to start around the same time as West Germany's March 5 presidential election in West Berlin. They are generally regarded as another Communist harassment tactic to hinder access to West Berlin for the election, which the Soviets and East Germans have denounced as a "provocation."

Before the autobahn was closed travelers arriving in West Berlin reported six-hour delays on the 110-mile trip from the West German border. They said they saw troops, trucks and other military equipment moving on the autobahn.

It also was reported that Marshal Ivan I. Yakubovsky, supreme commander of Warsaw Pact forces, flew to East Berlin Friday to confer with East German President Walter Ulbricht.

West German border officials said the East Germans threw red and white portable iron fences across the autobahn access and exit at Marienborn, opposite the West German border checkpoint at Helstedt, at 7 a.m. They were removed at 9 a.m. and Helstedt officials said western traffic began to move again.

The East Germans already have barred West German presidential electors and members of the West German armed forces from surface travel through East Germany to West Berlin. Western officials had suspected the maneuvers would further hamper road access.

Nixon, Ky Will Confer On Sunday

Secrecy Shrouds President's Talks With De Gaulle

PARIS (AP) — President Nixon and President Charles de Gaulle conferred for 90 minutes today in the guarded splendor of the Trianon Palace in suburban Versailles, their second day of talks that Nixon hoped would diminish differences between the United States and France.

Only interpreters were with the two presidents for that session in De Gaulle's palace office. Spokesmen would reveal nothing of what was said, although French spokesman Roger Vauress said he assumed the tone and atmosphere were "as cordial as yesterday."

While De Gaulle and Nixon conferred, White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler announced the U.S. President will meet Sunday with Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam, before he departs for Rome to meet Pope Paul VI.

Thus as Nixon neared the end of his eight-day trip across Western Europe, the war in Southeast Asia was on his agenda.

U.S. policy in Vietnam has been a troublesome issue in relations with De Gaulle. European suspicion that the United States is preoccupied with Vietnam and has not been sufficiently attentive to allies in Europe is one of the problems Nixon set out to ease.

Ziegler said Nixon would see Ky after conferring at the U.S. Embassy with Henry Cabot Lodge, chief U.S. negotiator at the Vietnam peace talks, and with other members of the negotiating team. Ky returned from Saigon Monday.

Ziegler said Nixon had indicated before leaving Washington that, if Lodge thought it appropriate, he would see Ky while in Paris.

The scene of Nixon's second meeting with De Gaulle was the vast, rambling palace which is a ceremonial country estate of French presidents.

Apollo 9 Crew Gets 'Go-Ahead' For Flight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Doctors pronounced the cold-bothered Apollo 9 astronauts "much improved" today and gave the go-ahead to proceed with plans for a Monday launching.

After an extensive medical examination, Dr. Charles A. Berry, chief astronaut physician, said that Air Force Col. David R. Scott was "clear" — over his cold.

Berry said Air Force Col. James A. McDivitt and civilian Russell Schweickart were much better.

The doctors said another physical examination was planned Sunday morning but they felt the astronauts would be well enough to rocket into space Monday after a three-day postponement.

Launch crews continued to ready the giant Saturn 5 rocket and spacecraft for the new launch time of 11 a.m. Monday.

Jury Verdict Unanimous

Shaw Cleared Of Charges In Kennedy Assassination

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A jury's unanimous verdict of innocent today cleared Clay L. Shaw, 55, of a charge of conspiracy to assassinate President John F. Kennedy.

Read to a packed, heavily guarded Criminal District Court at 1:02 a.m., the verdict triggered a moment of bedlam. There was an ear-splitting cheer-shriek from the women spectators.

The 12-man jury rejected both the state case and Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's plea that a conviction would strike a blow at "excessive government power."

"Garrison has a right to his opinion about the government and the Warren Commission," said juror David I. Powe shortly after court adjourned. "But I just don't feel his opinion is enough to convict a man."

Shaw, a 6-foot-4 retired New Orleans businessman with tanned and craggy features, stood in a protective circle of deputies as the verdict was read.

"Do you wish the jury polled?" asked Judge Edward A. Haggerty.

Asst. Dist. Atty. James L. Alcock, who headed Garrison's team of prosecutors, slumped low in his chair. He shook his head wearily, side to side.

Powe, a juror who grew a goatee while sequestered during the 34-day trial, said the verdict was unanimous and was reached on the first ballot taken in the bleak little room behind the courtroom.

Deliberation took about 50 minutes. Shaw was cleared two years to the day from the date he was arrested—March 1, 1967.

The state charged Shaw with conspiring with Lee Harvey Oswald and others to murder Kennedy, who was slain in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963. The Warren Commission named Oswald as the assassin.

Much of the prosecution case concentrated on attacking the commission's conclusion that Oswald, a former New Orleans resident, was alone and unaided in the assassination.

Garrison, up for re-election in six months, was not in the courtroom when the verdict was read. He appeared rarely during the trial, leaving the case to four assistants.

In final arguments, he left the oratory on legal detail and testimony to the assistants—but made an emotional appeal in the final minutes, attacking the Warren Commission.

"The government handling of the investigation of the assassination of President Kennedy was a fraud," he said, "probably the greatest fraud perpetrated in the history of mankind."

March Is 'Lambish,' Though On Cool Side

Ex-Resident Murdered In Detroit Hotel

Detectives at Detroit today continued a search for a suspect in the murder of a former city woman who was found beaten to death in a hotel Thursday night.

Police said Betty Ann Bunch, 30, was beaten to death with a pool cue stick Thursday night at the hotel where she had lived for several months.

Detectives said an unknown man continued a search for a suspect in the murder of a former city woman who was found beaten to death in a hotel Thursday night.

Later the desk clerk found the door partially open and saw the girl's body lying across the bed and called police.

She was born Feb. 4, 1939, in East Liverpool, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Martin, who now live in Alliance. She lived for 20 years in Alliance and was graduated from high school there in 1955.

She is survived by her husband, William Bunch of Alabama; a son, Chopper Campbell of Alliance; a brother, Richard Martin, also of Alliance, and a sister, Mrs. Willard (Lorna) Partin of Detroit.

166th Birthday

Ohio Celebrates Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio is celebrating its 166th birthday today and in Chillicothe a Statehood Day Birthday party is planned.

The Buckeye State lacked an official natal day until a Congressional resolution passed on Aug. 1, 1953, designated March 1 as the state's actual birthdate.

Chillicothe was the site of the state's first capital where the first General Assembly convened in 1803. It was there that Edward Tiffin was inaugurated as Ohio's first governor.

A concert by the Buckeye Scarlett Band from Ohio State University will highlight ceremonies at Chillicothe High School tonight. Rep. Myrtle Shoemaker, Democrat from nearby Bourneville, will speak.

Shoemaker reconstructed the hassle over Ohio's natal day for members of the Ohio House earlier this week.

At one time, Shoemaker said, history students, politicians and residents of the state had separate theories on when and where Ohio became the 17th state to join the Union.

Action in Congress by two Republicans, the late U. S. Rep. and Sen. George H. Bender and former Sen. John W. Bricker, helped resolve the question.

Prior to Congressional action some history buffs claimed that Ohio had never officially been admitted to the Union.

Congress, historians said, rushed to draft a specific act on Indiana's admission to the Union because of questions concerning Ohio.

Three dates suggested by students of Ohio history as the state's natal day were:

April 30, 1802, the day an Enabling Act by Congress initiated Ohio's statehood.

Feb. 19, 1803, when Congress extended federal law to "the State of Ohio."

Nov. 29, 1803, when the first state constitution was signed in Chillicothe.

Gov. James A. Rhodes in a Statehood Day proclamation, urged "all citizens of Ohio to safeguard the twin keystones of our liberty—the sovereign states welded into a federal union—constitutional and representative government based on the consent of the governed."

Convention Reforms Due By Democrat Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The grim shadow of Chicago hung over the Democratic National Committee today as it launched efforts to reform party structure with a plea to Republicans to do the same.

Sen. Fred Harris, the Democratic national chairman, made the plea in remarks prepared for the first meeting of Sen. George S. McGovern's commission to revamp delegate selection procedures for future Democratic national conventions.

"I think that the work of the McGovern commission can be specifically enhanced," said Harris. "If we can establish a bipartisan effort which would win us support from the Republicans at the state legislative level in cases where state laws must be adjusted in order to democratize the political party processes."

He added that Republican aid also would "help secure nonpartisan funds to further the necessary studies."

Harris said he had received a letter from Republican chairman Ray C. Bliss, who is resigning in April, saying the request for a GOP counterpart to the McGovern commission would be turned over to his successor.

Meanwhile, Harris said, the Democrats will proceed alone.

McGovern told the commission he had taken the job of chairman "because I do not ever again want to see another convention like the one in 1968."

The South Dakota Democrat noted that "despite its turbulence," last year's convention at Chicago did adopt "far-reaching reform resolutions."

"We shall carry out this mandate, not by flailing at each other, and not by identifying heroes and villains, but by appealing to reason and our sense of justice," McGovern said in his prepared speech.

The senator added: "But this does not suggest that we will be weakened on the hard questions of political reform. We have a clear mandate to fulfill without weakening either its letter or spirit."

Musical To Be Repeated Monday

'Li'l Abner' Cast Sparkles

By CLARA HALL

It is hard to find enough complimentary adjectives to sum up the performance of the musical comedy "Li'l Abner" given by the choral department of East Liverpool High School Friday night at the auditorium.

The capacity audience greeted the curtain calls with tremendous applause.

The cast of 75 will repeat the performance Monday night.

UNDER the direction of Mrs. Frankie Harris, the students, actually seemed to live the variety of characters they portrayed.

Colorful costumes were worn by the cute giggly girls and long whiskers, short beards and kooky heads of hair by the boys, all of whom were inhabitants of "Dogpatch-U.S.A."

The set was well designed, with a special emphasis on the statue of "Jubilation T. Cornpone," the famed warrior of the backwoods country. Stage props included everything from a live pig to shotguns and a jeepster. James Martin and Keith Langdon supervised set arrangements.

Teresa Maley was the comedy hit as "Mammy Yokum," who promoted her berry tonic as the cure for everything. Her counterpart, "Pappy Yokum," was squeakily done by Danny Valera.

The lead roles were excellently portrayed by Pam Price as "Daisy Mae" and Bob Cooper as "Abner." Their delightful duets added much to the show.

Humorous performances were turned in by Paul Barbuto as the wrestler; Mike Grimes, the doctor; Steve Goodman, the confidence man; Jim Cline, the general; Dan Skidmore, the preacher, and Kevin Mack, the senator. Sexy roles were handled by Mary Anne Young and Sharon Santimarinio.

One of the funniest scenes was the physical education experiment when football players—Jack Melvin, Rick Shawke, Jim Musuraca, Don Cochran, Dennis Brennan and Lou Volino—had a rough time keeping a straight face as laboratory technicians—Betsy Beatty, Marcia Reising and Patty Thornberry—took their measurements.

AS THE story unfolds, there is a square dancing scene in poverty-stricken "Dogpatch" to a complete turnabout with a formal dance at the general's mansion.

The preparation for the "Sadie Hawkins Day" observance was much enjoyed as was the swinging wedding ceremony in the finale.

The cameo appearance of John Hales impersonating former president Lyndon Johnson drew a hand when he said, "My fellow Americans."

Clever dialogue was interjected by Melanie Kinsey, as the Russian commentator; Yuko Takebayashi, giving the Japanese version, and Kenny Calhoun, speaking of the national scene.

The singing secretaries were Dyann Gibbs, Suzanne Dorsey, Savannar Prentice and Debbie Habenicht.

Jill Hammond, Judy Giambroni, Janet Andrews, Starr Flesch, Carol Portsmann and Nancy Gauron played the wives and Dave Schneidmiller, Bob Pelley, Anthony Zubay, Charles Groubert, Chris Conrad and Bill Anderson, the husbands.

Other roles were handled well by Paul Sayre, Alan Shaffer, Everett Stoddard, Brian Davis, Kenny Martin, Bill Anderson, David Smith, Steve Powell, Rick Thornton, Dave Rogers, Don Plant, Mike Gultz, Debby Harris, Keith Mack, Roby Parsons, George Grant, Rich Averall and Bob Farnsworth.

Mrs. Maxine Sutherland was organist and Leigh-Ann Bernstorff pianist.

Warned By Judge

Court Again Turns Down Sirhan On 'Guilty' Plea

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan has failed in another volatile try to fire his attorneys, change his plea to guilty and go to the gas chamber for murdering Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. And he's been warned: Any further tantrums and he'll be gagged and strapped to his chair.

"From here on you keep quiet, and if not, I will see to it that you are kept quiet," said Judge Herbert V. Walker after a heated 10-minute exchange with Sirhan.

In the course of his third courtroom outburst of the week, Sirhan said "I plead guilty to murder and ask to be executed."

It began with a commotion at the defense table, the jury being sent from the room, and Sirhan telling the judge:

"I, at this time, sir, withdraw my original plea of not guilty and submit the plea of guilty as charged on all counts." Sirhan had made the same request in chambers Tuesday.

"Stand up," commanded the 69-year-old judge. "Do I understand that you want to plead guilty to murder in the first degree?"

"Yes, sir, I do," said the 24-year-old Sirhan with determination.

"All right, and what do you want to do about the penalty?" "I will offer no defense whatsoever."

"The question is, what do you want to do about the penalty?" "I will ask to be executed, sir."

Ten feet behind Sirhan in the spectator section sat his mother, 56, with tears streaming from her eyes. Another son, Muir, 21, leaned over her attentively.

Sirhan's lawyers stood aside as the diminutive defendant—who once had hopes of being a jockey—faced the bench alone. He was white-faced but he spoke in an even, measured tone.

The judge said he knows nothing in the law that permits a defendant to enter a guilty plea to first-degree murder and ask for execution.

"Well, I have, sir," said Sirhan.

The indictment, returned by a grand jury last June 7—the day after Kennedy died—charged Sirhan did "wilfully, unlawfully, feloniously and with malice aforethought murder Robert F. Kennedy, a human being."

Kennedy was shot after attending a party celebrating his California Democratic presidential primary victory.

Sirhan's attorneys contend the young Jordanian's childhood experiences in war-torn Palestine robbed Sirhan of the mental capacity to meaningfully and maturely plan the murder. Its first witnesses Friday testified how poorly Arab refugees lived after partition of Palestine in 1948.

Judge Walker told Sirhan evidence had to be produced in court and the defendant replied, "I will withdraw all evidence sir."

"There is no such procedure," said the judge.

"To hell with it," replied Sirhan.

The judge told Sirhan he would not put up with more interruptions.

"I mean by that you will have a face mask put on you which will prohibit you from talking and further, your arms will be strapped to your chair and the trial will proceed. You understand that?"

Sirhan said he understood but said he didn't want to be represented by his counsel.

"You have retained counsel," the judge said. "Counsel is staying in the trial."

"I don't want anyone to have a trial shoved down my throat, sir, and you are not going to shove it down my throat, sir, in any way you want," said Sirhan, adding that he wanted to defend himself.

The judge asked a legal question.

"I don't know," said Sirhan.

"I find you are incapable of representing yourself," said Walker. "Sit down and keep quiet and, if not, I intend to keep you quiet."

Sirhan's voice rose. "No sir, I still maintain my original point. I plead guilty to murder and ask to be executed."

Soon afterward, the three defense attorneys talked with Sirhan in a cell outside the courtroom.

Appalachian Area Hit By Heavy Snow

By The Associated Press

Heavy snow socked the central Appalachians today in a March opening storm that also spilled rain into the Southeast.

Travelers warnings were issued for parts of North Carolina, the Virginias, Kentucky and Tennessee as the same storm system that dumped 6 to 10 inches of snow through the lower Midwest churned eastward.

Five inches of snow whitened Asheville, N.C., before daybreak. The Weather Bureau indicated the snow would likely overspread much of Virginia.

Thunderstorms rumbled across sections of the Southeast below the snow belt.

In the Far West, rain or showers dampened scattered points along the Pacific Coast. However, Southern California escaped the threat of any renewed flooding such as occurred in heavy rains early in the week.

Snow sifted out of the western storm as it moved inland. Five inches blanketed Austin, Nev., during the night.

Light snow lingered from the Northern Plains into the lower Missouri Valley.

Genuinely cold weather remained confined to the northern Rockies where Havre, Mont., registered 10 below zero before dawn. Temperatures elsewhere were near seasonal norms.

Aliquippa Man, 26, Gets Prison Sentence

An Aliquippa man has been sentenced to the Moundsville Penitentiary after his conviction last week of aiding a breaking and entering at Chester.

Charles John Dulick, 26, was sentenced to 1 to 10 years by Judge Ralph Pryor in Hancock County Circuit Court for "aiding and abetting" a break-in at Chaney's Handi-Food Store last Sept. 22.

Dulick was placed at the scene by Nancy Chaney, daughter of the owner, Donald Chaney, during the trial.

overlooking the gardens of Versailles. The interpreters were the only other men in the room for 93 minutes.

Then French Premier Maurice Couve de Murville joined them for a second round lasting 25 minutes. That, in turn, gave way to an expanded conference with six advisors joining each president.

The advisers included Secretary of State William P. Rogers and French Foreign Minister Michel Debre.

After a luncheon and a stroll through the Versailles gardens, the expanded talks were to continue until late afternoon.

Nixon drove from Paris in a White House limousine along streets cleared of traffic. There were no big crowds in the city, only a few curious passers-by.

Security was stringent, with cordons of police, some with watchdogs, patrolling the palace grounds.

De Gaulle met Nixon at the red marble entrance, the two shook hands and entered at once.

Tours of the main Versailles Palace, about a mile away, were suspended for the day.

Nixon was said to feel, after his two hours of talks with De Gaulle Friday night, that the conversations here were off to a "good start." Ziegler, quoting him to that effect, said the first meeting had been in a "frank and cordial atmosphere," and the French spokesman echoed this.

Nixon, hatless and wearing a gray overcoat, left his Paris quarters at the Quai D'Orsay, the French Foreign Office building, at 9:30 a.m., for a 14-mile drive behind an escort of motor cyclists. De Gaulle arrived at the Grand Trianon some minutes ahead of him, at 10 a.m.

As he left the Quai D'Orsay, Nixon waved cheerfully to a group of American tourists standing across the street behind metal barriers, and they waved back enthusiastically.

De Gaulle met the American

President in the famous marble-columned peristyle of the palace, an arched corridor linking the two wings of the Trianon. The weather was cold and overcast as they shook hands cordially and went to the wing of the palace which De Gaulle has set aside for his personal use.

There were large forces of police along Nixon's route, but there were no spectators. Only a few persons were along the streets inside Paris, and in the area of the outer gates of the Trianon a gathering of 60 or 70 persons was on hand to see Nixon arrive.

Some children carried signs of welcome. One read, "Nixon's the one."

Nixon regards his session with the French leader as the most important phase of the eight-day trip that has taken him to major West European capitals. He wants to close the gap of misunderstanding that has plagued American-French relations in recent years.

Nixon hopes to forge a fresh start with De Gaulle, forgetting the past in which the French leader has called for a lessening of United States involvement in Europe.

166th Birthday

Ohio Celebrates Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio is celebrating its 166th birthday today and in Chillicothe a Statehood Day Birthday party is planned.

The Buckeye State lacked an official natal day until a Congressional resolution passed on Aug. 1, 1953, designated March 1 as the state's actual birthdate.

Chillicothe was the site of the state's first capital where the first General Assembly convened in 1803. It was there that Edward Tiffin was inaugurated as Ohio's first governor.

A concert by the Buckeye Scarlet Band from Ohio State University will highlight ceremonies at Chillicothe High School tonight. Rep. Myrtle Shoemaker, Democrat from nearby Rourkville, will speak.

Shoemaker reconstructed the battle over Ohio's natal day for members of the Ohio House earlier this week.

At one time, Shoemaker said, history students, politicians and residents of the state had separate theories on when and where Ohio became the 17th state to join the Union.

Action in Congress by two Republicans, the late U. S. Rep. and Sen. George H. Bender and former Sen. John W. Bricker, helped resolve the question.

Prior to Congressional action some history buffs claimed that Ohio had never officially been admitted to the Union.

Congress, historians said, rushed to draft a specific act on Indiana's admission to the Union because of questions concerning Ohio.

Three dates suggested by students of Ohio history as the state's natal day were:

April 30, 1802, the day an Enabling Act by Congress initiated Ohio's statehood.

Feb. 19, 1803, when Congress extended federal law to "the State of Ohio."

Nov. 29, 1803, when the first state constitution was signed in Chillicothe.

Gov. James A. Rhodes in a Statehood Day proclamation urged "all citizens of Ohio to safeguard the twin keystones of our liberty—the sovereign states welded into a federal union—constitutional and representative government based on the consent of the governed."

Convention Reforms Due By Democrat Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The grim shadow of Chicago hung over the Democratic National Committee today as it launched efforts to reform party structure with a plea to Republicans to do the same.

Sen. Fred Harris, the Democratic national chairman, made the plea in remarks prepared for the first meeting of Sen. George S. McGovern's commission to revamp delegate selection procedures for future Democratic national conventions.

"I think that the work of the McGovern commission can be specifically enhanced," said Harris, "if we can establish a bipartisan effort which would win us support from the Republicans at the state legislative level in cases where state laws must be adjusted in order to democratize the political party processes."

He added that Republican aid also would "help secure nonpartisan funds to further the necessary studies."

Harris said he had received a letter from Republican chairman Ray C. Bliss, who is resigning in April, saying the request for a GOP counterpart to the McGovern commission would be turned over to his successor.

Meanwhile, Harris said, the Democrats will proceed alone.

McGovern told the commission he had taken the job of chairman "because I do not ever again want to see another convention like the one in 1968."

The South Dakota Democrat noted that "despite its turbulence," last year's convention at Chicago did adopt "far-reaching reform resolutions."

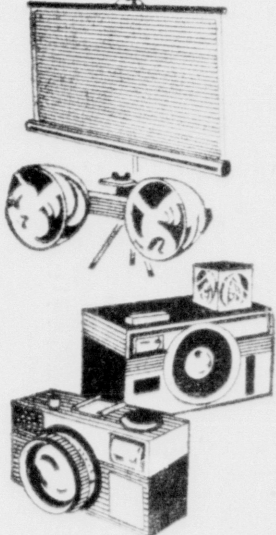

"We shall carry out this mandate, not by flailing at each other, and not by identifying heroes and villains, but by appealing to reason and our sense of justice," McGovern said in his prepared speech.

The senator added: "But this does not suggest that we will be weakened on the hard questions of political reform. We have a clear mandate to fulfill without weakening either its letter or spirit."

The famous Eiffel Tower in Paris has been officially classed as an historical monument so that it never can be pulled down.

overlooking the gardens of Versailles. The interpreters were the only other men in the room for 93 minutes.

Then French Premier Maurice Couve de Murville joined them for a second round lasting 25 minutes. That, in turn, gave way to an expanded conference with six advisors joining each president.

The advisers included Secretary of State William P. Rogers and French Foreign Minister Michel Debre.

After a luncheon and a stroll through the Versailles gardens, the expanded talks were to continue until late afternoon.

Nixon drove from Paris in a White House limousine along streets cleared of traffic. There were no big crowds in the city, only a few curious passers-by.

Security was stringent, with cordons of police, some with watchdogs, patrolling the palace grounds.

De Gaulle met Nixon at the red marble entrance, the two shook hands and entered at once.

Tours of the main Versailles Palace, about a mile away, were suspended for the day.

Nixon was said to feel, after his two hours of talks with De Gaulle Friday night, that the conversations here were off to a "good start." Ziegler, quoting him to that effect, said the first meeting had been in a "frank and cordial atmosphere," and the French spokesman echoed this.

Nixon, hatless and wearing a gray overcoat, left his Paris quarters at the Quai D'Orsay, the French Foreign Office building, at 9:37 a.m., for a 14-mile drive behind an escort of motorcyclists. De Gaulle arrived at the Grand Trianon some minutes ahead of him, at 10 a.m.

As he left the Quai D'Orsay, Nixon waved cheerfully to a group of American tourists standing across the street behind metal barriers, and they waved back enthusiastically.

De Gaulle met the American President in the famous marble-columned peristyle of the palace, an arched corridor linking the two wings of the Trianon. The weather was cold and overcast as they shook hands cordially and went to the wing of the palace which De Gaulle has set aside for his personal use.

There were large forces of police along Nixon's route, but there were no spectators. Only a few persons were along the streets inside Paris, and in the area of the outer gates of the Trianon a gathering of 60 or 70 persons was on hand to see Nixon arrive.

Some children carried signs of welcome. One read, "Nixon's the one."

Nixon regards his sessions with the French leader as the most important phase of the eight-day trip that has taken him to major West European capitals. He wants to close the gap of misunderstanding that has plagued American-French relations in recent years.

Nixon hopes to forge a fresh start with De Gaulle, forgetting the past in which the French leader has called for a lessening of United States involvement in Europe.

Seven Are Arrested In Narcotics Raid

PITTSBURGH — Authorities have arrested seven persons in a dope raid and seized what they said was the largest cache of narcotics ever uncovered in Western Pennsylvania.

The raid in suburban Penn Hills Friday included five ounces of heroin and 30 ounces of cocaine. An FBI agent said the drugs were worth $467,000 on the illicit drug market.

Also confiscated were two revolvers and one derringer, over $11,000 in cash and a 1969 model car.

The raid, made by the FBI, police, state narcotic agents and Allegheny County detectives, was at the home of Alonzo Davis, 55, and his wife, Pat, in Penn Hills.

Panel Lengthens Report Period In Probe Of Schools

A panel of educators investigating alleged violations of ethical standards in the East Liverpool school faculty has extended the time in which they expect to complete its report.

The Professional Rights and Responsibilities Commission panel headed by William Quinn of Canton completed hearing testimony at the Holiday Inn at Waterford Park Friday afternoon.

Some 75 witnesses were heard by the study group which began its probe Tuesday night into the dissension in the city schools, centered in the past year on friction between Robert McNea, athletic director and football coach, and Clinton McConnell, basketball coach.

B. I. Griffith, assistant executive secretary of the Ohio Education Association who accompanied the panel, said the members reviewed the testimony yesterday afternoon, then returned to their homes across the state.

He said earlier the final report to the board of education would be ready in two to four weeks, but yesterday estimated the report would not be ready for a month.

Vocational Planning Unit To Meet Thursday Night

LISBON — The Columbiana County vocational school planning committee will meet Thursday night at the office of James L. McBride, county superintendent and committee chairman, to begin preparing plans to submit to the Ohio Department of Education.

Others on the committee are School Supts. Robert Pond of Salem, Joe Driscoll of Lisbon, Roy Cashdollar of Beaver Local and board members Robert Campbell of Salem, Dr. Wade A. Bacon of Lisbon and Arthur Doak of Beaver Local.

All except Campbell and Dr. Bacon made a 12-hour trip to Nelsonville Wednesday to inspect the tri-county vocational high school, which has 411 students enrolled in the junior class this first year of operation. Another junior class will be enrolled next school year.

McBride said the school serves young people in three counties — Perry, Hocking and Athens — which have a combined population of 65,000. The students come from eight school districts, some traveling 37 miles one way.

Students ride buses to their district high schools, then transfer to buses for the trip to the vocational school. Classes are from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The school has approximately 24 units of vocational subjects, and English, history and government courses required for graduation.

McBride said the setup includes a tri-county technical institute for grades 13 and 14 on the same grounds. There is a daytime basic education course for adults and night classes are offered.

The federal government contributed $1,900,000 toward construction and equipment since the area is in Appalachia. The tri-county district passed a $735,000 bond issue and the state contributed $704,000, McBride said.

"It's tremendous the opportunities those students have," he said. "If the people in this county could see the setup down there they would want to have that type of school here."

Carl Fisher of Beaver Local made the trip with the committee.

McBride said the committee will draft a plan for a vocational high school to serve all districts in the county except East Liverpool. The city board of education last fall advised McBride it would not be interested in a countywide setup.

The committee will determine how the different districts would be represented on the board, what courses to offer, enrollment and the size of the school and an outline of costs.

Deaths and Funerals

Mrs. Amanda Dotson

Mrs. Amanda Alice Dotson, 89, of Wellsville RD 1, Madison Township, widow of Ellison F. Dotson, died Friday at 8 p.m. at City Hospital after a lingering illness.

She was born in Belleville, W. Va., May 9, 1879, a daughter of the late Thomas Jefferson Sams and Elizabeth Ann Wigle Sams.

She leaves three sons, Harry E. Dotson of Huntington Beach, Calif., Norman Dotson of East Liverpool and Melvin Dotson of Wells-ville; two daughters, Mrs. Everett (Clara) Crawford of Bradford, Pa., and Mrs. Stanford W. (Ruth) Fitzsimmons of Calcutta; a brother, Elmer Sams of Parkersburg, W. Va., 20 grandchildren, 39 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Services will be held Monday at 11 a.m. at the MacLean Funeral Home in Wells-ville by the Rev. Harold Sherman of the Grace United Presbyterian Church of East Liverpool. Burial will be in Yellow Creek Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday afternoon and night.

Peter Mulhearn

Services for Peter (Pete) Mulhearn, 76, a former Salineville barber, will be held Monday at 11 a.m. at St. Patrick's Catholic Church in Salineville. Fr. John Kennedy will officiate.

Burial will be in St. Patrick's Cemetery.

Mr. Mulhearn died Thursday evening at the Soldiers and Sailors Home in Sandusky, where he had been a patient 3½ years.

He was born in Salineville Nov. 15, 1893, a son of the late Patrick and Bridgett Mulhearn. He was an Army World War I veteran and belonged to St. Patrick's Church. His wife, the former Edna Baker, died in 1966.

His only survivor is a sister-in-law, Mrs. Blanche Mulhearn of Cleveland, and several nieces and nephews.

Friends may call at the Kerr Funeral Home in Salineville Sunday afternoon and night.

Kenneth Hull

Graveside services will be held this afternoon at 3 at Springhill Cemetery, Wells-ville, for Kenneth W. Hull, infant son of Kenneth W. and Beverly Wheatley Hull of 505 Mulberry St.

Kenneth was born Friday at 6 a.m. at City Hospital and died this morning at 3:40.

In addition to the parents, he is survived by a sister, Frances June Hull, at home; the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert O. Hull Jr.; the maternal great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert O. Hull Sr.; the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Pearl Langdon, and the maternal grandfather, John Wheatley, all of East Liverpool.

The Martin Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Estell Crago

Mrs. Estell Mayhew Crago, 69, of New Cumberland RD 1, widow of James A. Crago, died Friday at 7 p.m. at the Westerville (Ohio) Convalescent Home after a long illness.

She was born May 12, 1899, in New Cumberland, a daughter of the late James and Virginia W. Mayhew. Her husband died in May 1967.

She leaves two sons, Harold Crago and Dean Crago of New

Youngstown, until his retirement in 1967. He belonged to the Centenary Church and Odd Fellows Lodge 729 of East Palestine.

He is survived by his widow, the former Dorothy M. McGee, whom he married Sept. 16, 1926, and a sister, Mrs. Mildred Bush of East Palestine.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Price Increase

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight major oil companies have raised the wholesale price of gasoline by either six or seven-cents a gallon and many service station operators have decided to pass the price hike on to drivers at a rate of one to three cents a gallon.

An Associated Press survey of six cities shows many dealers who haven't yet increased their price will soon.

The manager of a Mobil station in New York City said, "Naturally, if prices go up, we'll raise our prices."

In Detroit, the Retail Gasoline Dealers of Michigan, representing 2,000 service stations, said drivers there will pay a cent or two more than the current price of 35.9 cents for regular gas and 39.9 for premium.

A Boston dealer who said he plans to raise prices three cents a gallon added "Business is lousy this time of year and this just makes it lousier."

A San Francisco dealer, George Currie, said he'd try to hold the line on prices "but I don't want to start a gas war."

Frank M. Anderson, a Texaco dealer in Atlanta, raised gas prices one cent this week and will add another penny to the total next week, he said. James Bowen, a Sinclair dealer in Decatur, Ga., near Atlanta, said, "I plan to go up one cent."

But drivers near Kansas City, Mo., may escape an increase. The city is in the midst of a price war that has cut prices to as little as 20.9 cents for regular gas.

Texaco was the first company to announce a price rise.

Mrs. Amanda Alice Dotson, 89, of Wellsville RD 1, Madison Township, widow of Ellison F. Dotson, died Friday at 8 p.m. at City Hospital after a lingering illness.

She was born in Belleville, W. Va., May 9, 1879, a daughter of the late Thomas Jefferson Sams and Elizabeth Ann Wigle Sams.

She leaves three sons, Harry E. Dotson of Huntington Beach, Calif., Norman Dotson of East Liverpool and Melvin Dotson of Wellsville; two daughters, Mrs. Everett (Clara) Crawford of Bradford, Pa., and Mrs. Stanford W. (Ruth) Fitzsimmons of Calcutta; a brother, Elmer Sams of Parkersburg, W. Va., 20 grandchildren, 39 great-grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Services will be held Monday at 11 a.m. at the MacLean Funeral Home in Wellsville by the Rev. Harold Sherman of the Grace United Presbyterian Church of East Liverpool. Burial will be in Yellow Creek Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday afternoon and night.

Peter Mulhearn

Services for Peter (Pete) Mulhearn, 76, a former Salineville barber, will be held Monday at 11 a.m. at St. Patrick's Catholic Church in Salineville. Fr. John Kennedy will officiate.

Burial will be in St. Patrick's Cemetery.

Mr. Mulhearn died Thursday evening at the Soldiers and Sailors Home in Sandusky, where he had been a patient 3½ years.

He was born in Salineville Nov. 15, 1893, a son of the late Patrick and Bridgett Mulhearn. He was an Army World War I veteran and belonged to St. Patrick's Church. His wife, the former Edna Baker, died in 1966.

His only survivor is a sister-in-law, Mrs. Blanche Mulhearn of Cleveland, and several nieces and nephews.

Friends may call at the Kerr Funeral Home in Salineville Sunday afternoon and night.

Kenneth Hull

Graveside services will be held this afternoon at 3 at Springhill Cemetery, Wellsville, for Kenneth W. Hull, infant son of Kenneth W. and Beverly Wheatley Hull of 505 Mulberry St.

Kenneth was born Friday at 6 a.m. at City Hospital and died this morning at 3:40.

In addition to the parents, he is survived by a sister, Frances June Hull, at home; the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert O. Hull Jr.; the maternal great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert O. Hull Sr.; the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Pearl Langdon, and the maternal grandfather, John Wheatley, all of East Liverpool.

The Martin Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Estell Crago

Mrs. Estell Mayhew Crago, 69, of New Cumberland RD 1, widow of James A. Crago, died Friday at 7 p.m. at the Westerville (Ohio) Convalescent Home after a long illness.

She was born May 12, 1899, in New Cumberland, a daughter of the late James and Virginia W. Mayhew. Her husband died in May 1967.

She leaves two sons, Harold Crago and Dean Crago of New Cumberland; four daughters, Mrs. George (Florence) Wunduke, Mrs. Gladys Rossi, and Mrs. John (Mary) Kondus, all of Weirton, and Mrs. Ralph (Edith) Spires of Newark, Ohio; two brothers, Jess Mayhew and Thomas Mayhew, both of New Cumberland, 19 grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at the Turley Funeral Home in New Cumberland by the Rev. P. E. Vandercov of the Weirton Heights Baptist Church. Burial will be in the New Cumberland Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 tonight.

Robert Ford

LISBON — Robert William Ford, 49, of Lisbon RD 4 died at 4 p.m. Friday at his home on Route 30, west. He had been ill since June 1966.

He was born Dec. 15, 1919, a son of Howard and Jessie Mills Ford.

Mr. Ford was a self-employed machinist with a shop at his home. He was a member of Lisbon Aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

He leaves his widow, the former Agnes Pappas, whom he married April 19, 1952; three sisters, Mrs. Clara Stebbins and Mrs. Louise Moquin, both of Dallas, Tex., and Mrs. Joanne Rutecki of Lisbon, and two brothers, Paul Ford and George Eells, both of Lisbon.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Monday at the Ellis-Leggett Funeral Home, with the Rev. Paul Haney of the First Christian Church officiating. Burial will be in Lisbon Cemetery.

Friends may call from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. Sunday at the funeral home. The family said Mr. Ford's favorite charity was the Heart Fund.

Ray Keller

EAST PALESTINE — Services for Ray E. Keller, 68, of 65 W. Grant St. will be held Monday at 1:30 p.m. at the Oliver-Linsley Funeral Home here.

The Rev. Thomas Hammett of the Centenary United Methodist Church of East Palestine will officiate.

Burial will be in the Glenview Cemetery.

Mr. Keller died Friday at 10:47 a.m. at Salem City Hospital, where he had been a patient four days. He had been ill with a heart ailment.

He was born in Center Township, Columbiana County, July 23, 1900, a son of the late John L. and Elsie Groner Keller. He once operated a service station in Columbiana and moved to East Palestine 35 years ago. He was a press operator at the General Fireproofing Co. in Youngstown, until his retirement in 1967. He belonged to the Centenary Church and Odd Fellows Lodge 729 of East Palestine.

He is survived by his widow, the former Dorothy M. McGee, whom he married Sept. 16, 1926, and a sister, Mrs. Mildred Bush of East Palestine.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Price Increase Due On Gasoline

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight major oil companies have raised the wholesale price of gasoline by either six- or seven-cents a gallon and many service station operators have decided to pass the price hike on to drivers at a rate of one to three cents a gallon.

An Associated Press survey of six cities shows many dealers who haven't yet increased their price will soon.

The manager of a Mobil station in New York City said, "Naturally, if prices go up, we'll raise our prices."

In Detroit, the Retail Gasoline Dealers of Michigan, representing 2,000 service stations, said drivers there will pay a cent or two more than the current price of 35.9 cents for regular gas and 39.9 for premium.

A Boston dealer who said he plans to raise prices three cents a gallon added "Business is lousy this time of year and this just makes it lousier."

A San Francisco dealer, George Currie, said he'd try to hold the line on prices "but I don't want to start a gas war."

Frank M. Anderson, a Texaco dealer in Atlanta, raised gas prices one cent this week and will add another penny to the total next week, he said. James Bowen, a Sinclair dealer in Decatur, Ga., near Atlanta, said, "I plan to go up one cent."

But drivers near Kansas City, Mo., may escape an increase. The city is in the midst of a price war that has cut prices to as little as 20.9 cents for regular gas.

Texaco was the first company to announce a price rise.

Police Seize Campus

At Rome University

ROME (AP) — Moving in three waves, about 4,000 riot police took possession of the Rome University campus early today after demonstrations during the visit of President Nixon. More riots are expected before his return to Rome Sunday to meet with Pope Paul VI.

The police dislodged 20 students they found occupying the university.

Sticking With The Formula

Council should take a good long look at a glaring inconsistency in the salary legislation which it is due to vote Monday night.

The ordinance calls for a $79-a-month raise for Water Supt. Harold Peterson, pegging his new rate at $800, and allows only a $50 raise for Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey, for a new total of $700.

A lot of eyebrows have been raised around City Hall since copies of the proposed ordinance became available Friday. There may be more concrete expressions of opinion from some of the personnel before Council convenes Monday.

We do not mean to assess the relative responsibilities and abilities of Mr. Peterson and Mr. Vodrey. Both have responsible jobs which they administer more than adequately. But the responsibilities and complexities of the administration of the water department cannot outweigh the problems encountered in the director's office by that wide a margin.

BOTH OFFICIALS undoubtedly deserve salary increases, particularly since virtually every other worker on the city payroll has been given a boost within the last two months. Mr. Peterson presently draws $621 and Mr. Vodrey now is paid $650.

Racial Polarization Continues

A newly released study of the nation's effort to deal with its race problem is not encouraging.

Billed as an evaluation of what has happened since a report was issued by the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders a year ago, the study concludes there has been very little progress.

THE COMMISSION report is best remembered for its statement: "Our nation is moving toward two societies, one black, one white — separate and unequal."

Not quite so well remembered are these comments: "This deepening racial division is not inevitable. The movement apart can be reversed. Choice is still possible."

"The alternative is not blind repression or capitulation to lawlessness. It is the realization of common opportunities for all within a single society."

"This alternative will require a commitment to national action—compassionate, massive and sustained, backed by the resources of the most powerful and the richest nation on this earth. From every American it will require new attitudes, new understanding, and, above all, new will."

The just released study by Urban America and the Urban Coalition, private nonprofit organizations, was an attempt to see if new attitudes, understanding and will have been brought to bear against the problem.

Facts gathered for the 90-page report indicate continued polarization of races within the nation.

The "One Year Later" report is evidence of how extremely difficult it is to develop new attitudes and understanding in racial matters.

Adding new twists and turns to the maze leading to solutions is the divergence of opinion on what should be done.

For example, President Nixon believes black capitalism is one means of eliminating the ghet-

The director, by the very nature of his duties and by long tradition, should not be asked to play second fiddle on the salary scale.

The water department admittedly is a self-sustaining city operation. And admittedly the Board of Public Utilities, which administers the operation, is virtually autonomous in its decisions. That is the way it should be. The department has been removed from politics since 1952 and is much the better for it.

But in the interest of justice and harmony, what is wrong with applying the same 5, 6 and 7 per cent formula to these salary increases that was used in computing the salary boosts for many other workers?

ADDING THE three together and granting them as one would boost the water superintendent to $738 and set the director's new salary at $776. Of course, the same formula would have to be applied to raises proposed for several other superintendents and so forth.

Mr. Peterson would have a $117 raise, Mr. Vodrey would have a $126 raise, and both would hold their relative positions in the salary hierarchy.

It's worth some serious consideration.

to but the AFL-CIO executive committee disagrees.

Many organizations, both black and white, are working diligently in behalf of integration while black students are disrupting campuses in search of separate facilities.

BLACK ORGANIZATIONS can't agree on a modus operandi and white officials don't agree on community involvement or urban renewal programs.

Most of the obstacles could be overcome if there were a national commitment toward that goal, if whites decided Negroes are to be accepted instead of tolerated and if Negroes decided more can be gained through cooperation than conquest.

Human nature being what it is, the public mandate for racial harmony is slow in coming.

Another comment from the commission's report of a year ago still is pertinent: "It is time now to turn with all the purposes of our command to the major unfinished business of this nation."

Trade Growth

Two prosperous nations, the United States and West Germany, were primarily responsible for providing the impetus that led to a doubling in world trade growth last year.

These two nations' increased demand for imports is credited with being the "vital factor" in the general expansion of trade, in a study made by international trade experts.

Whereas the industrialized nations led the trade boom with a 12 per cent increase in exports, the underdeveloped countries also benefited from the improved conditions in that their exports expanded by about 9 per cent as compared with a 3 per cent growth in 1967.

The report tends to spotlight the value of industrialization, not only for the nation directly involved but for other nonindustrialized countries that are beneficiaries on a spill-over basis.

Critics of the treaty do not feel it will be effective and claim it is too one-sided to be in the best interest of the United States.

Supporters in the Senate and in the Nixon administration contend the United States cannot justify its position of seeking arms control through negotiation if the Senate refuses to endorse a treaty to prevent further spread of nuclear weapons.

It's a case of put up or shut up and the Senate looks as if it is about to put up.

The Right Philosophy

The same philosophy that has guided the conduct of President Nixon's tour of Europe apparently will prevail when Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York undertakes his mission to Latin America.

The governor, speaking rather bluntly about his trip, said he considers it most important to listen to the Latin leaders, to find out their reactions, what they see as possibilities, their hopes and aspirations, and their fears.

THEN, HE SAID, this information must be blended into common goals and programs.

The governor severely criticizes American politicians for their policies so far as they pertain to Latin America. He said they "tend to express their own opinions prior to consultation without any real knowledge of the situation, and then there is no sense of identification or common objective with the other American republics."

Gov. Rockefeller thus has made public what he has been saying privately to his associates — that he believes this country generally has tried to force policies on Latin American leaders without having asked them what they think is best.

Observing that back in the days of the Roosevelt administration the United States policy was one of sincerely searching for a common purpose, the governor said, "They don't do it that way anymore. They just rush in a big group of Americans and spend a lot of money. God knows where it goes."

Apparently then, President Nixon's special emissary to Latin America is convinced that Uncle Sam has badly neglected the countries of Latin America. He is equally convinced that we must employ greater sensitivity in our dealing with these nations.

HE INTENDS for his mission to be primarily fact-finding in nature, with the real needs of the Latin countries his prime concern.

Gov. Rockefeller brings to his task a considerable experience in Latin American relations. In addition, he has a ranch in Venezuela and speaks Spanish fluently.

His assignment may well pay big dividends. If it does, it will be none too soon. For there is potential for great trouble in Latin America.

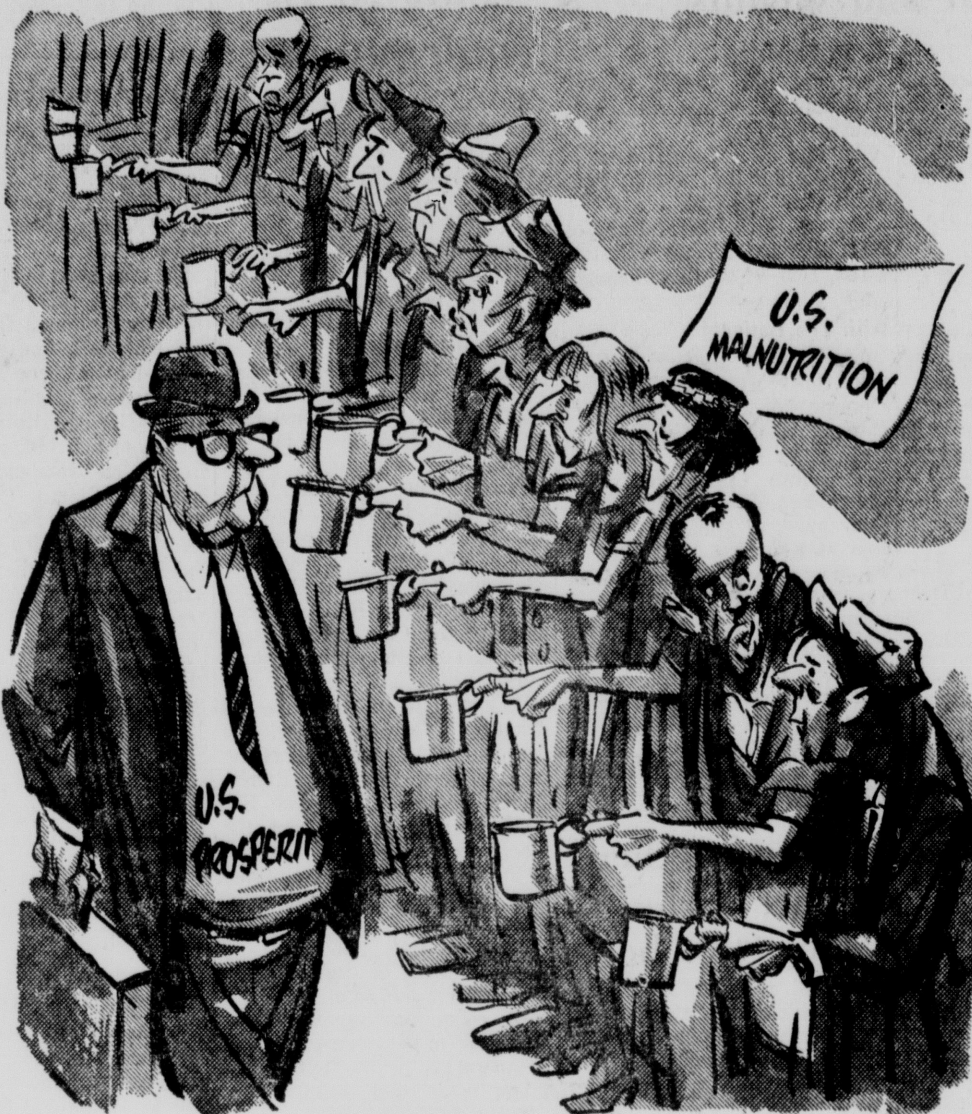

We wish to express our appreciation to the Chester volunteer fire department, the Lawrenceville volunteer fire department, the East Liverpool Civil Defense and to all the many others who helped at the time of the tragic drowning of a member of our family Feb. 7. A simple thank you seems so inadequate, but it is a comfort to know we have so many unselfish people in our communities.

'He Seems Surprised We Speak English?'

VICTOR RIESEL

End Of An Era Nearing

WASHINGTON — Apparently in some circles, there's not as much of a generation gap as it seems. Take the powerful 38-year-old building and construction under chief Guido Iozzi Jr., whose muscle and imagination have not yet gone to fat.

His success went to his pockets, as well as his head. Now he's wandering around under a $30,000 bail bond, awaiting sentence which could net him 63 years in the federal penitentiary.

Mr. Iozzi, who has some influential friends in the nation's shadowland establishment, personifies one of the reasons it's regrettable the AFL-CIO's high command did not revive and revitalize its own policing system, the Ethical Practices Committee, when the Executive Council met in Bal Harbour, Fla., last week.

This committee did clean house in '57 and '58, as Jimmy Hoffa has reason to know. But it has been mostly files these past few years, and now the committee is dead, as is its former chairman, the late George Harrison, who for so many years drafted so many of labor's resolutions.

WITHOUT ITS LAW and order committee, the AFL-CIO can hardly know what's happening down below. It's going to be tough on the labor movement. Actually, there are enough Iozzis to alarm the public, motivate regional prosecutors and alienate some of its friends, even in the Congress.

Mr. Iozzi made good inside labor at an age which is quite "early" in his field. At 33, he rocketed rather explosively from being business agent of an iron workers local to the presidency of the Baltimore (Md.) Building and Construction Trades (Union) Council.

He had a penchant for language as tough as his muscle. Also he liked money. There was testimony that he even went after a contractor who is the father-in-law of Baltimore's mayor.

Mr. Iozzi was accused of taking sums ranging up to $10,000 as payoffs. He was charged with saying that he had 60 men ready for some rather violent action when he needed them. One witness, a contractor, reported that he and Mr. Iozzi went for a drive, and in the car he was told how much it would cost for him to work on a municipal courthouse job. Another contractor found a "hangman's noose" swaying on the porch of a building he was using as an office.

There were old-fashioned movie-script sequences describing cash bribes handed over in markets. At the trial in the Alexandria, Va., federal court (held there after a successful motion for change of venue), Mr. Iozzi was convicted on six counts. He was found guilty of extorting $3,000 and $10,000 from two Maryland building contractors, and attempting to extort $20,000 from a third. Three counts were on vilation of the Taft-Hartley Law and three under the Hobbs Anti-Terror Extortion Act.

SO SUCCESSFULLY DID he sell labor peace that the Mafia took a good look at the Baltimore market. Some Cosa Nostra chaps thought they'd move in and take over. They did not. But there's another story, and now, with Vito Genovese dead and the Maryland prosecutor, young Stephen Sachs, "hot," the boys decided to stay in New York.

Point is, there are many big cities where the mob is operating on this front. Almost everywhere, federal prosecutors are moving against them—New York, New England, New Jersey, and points south and west.

Soon there will be some spectacular trials. Later, when some of the Justice Dept. strike forces collate their intelligence material, there will be other courtroom melodramas, starring some local gentry who believed their connections were sufficient to immunize them. Not so.

NO DOUBT THE PUBLIC then will blame the men at the top of the labor movement. True, they're almost powerless against the local muscle and hoods. Just look at a Laborers local in Queens, N.Y., which has been led by one of the toughest musclemen known in this land. This local, which worked the World's Fair, is rotten. The national laborers union finally was needed into putting it under trusteeship. Authorities say it's still rotten.

So are some of its "sister locals" in other parts of the country. All right. So leaders of unions can't subpoena, search and seize. They can't do physical battle. But they can make the record with their own national probes.

The government, led by Attorney General John Mitchell's Justice Dept., is moving. It must. Hundreds of billions of dollars will be spent during the coming decades remodeling the cities, "skilling up" the unskilled for the sake of the nation, the ghetto and a durable peace on our streets.

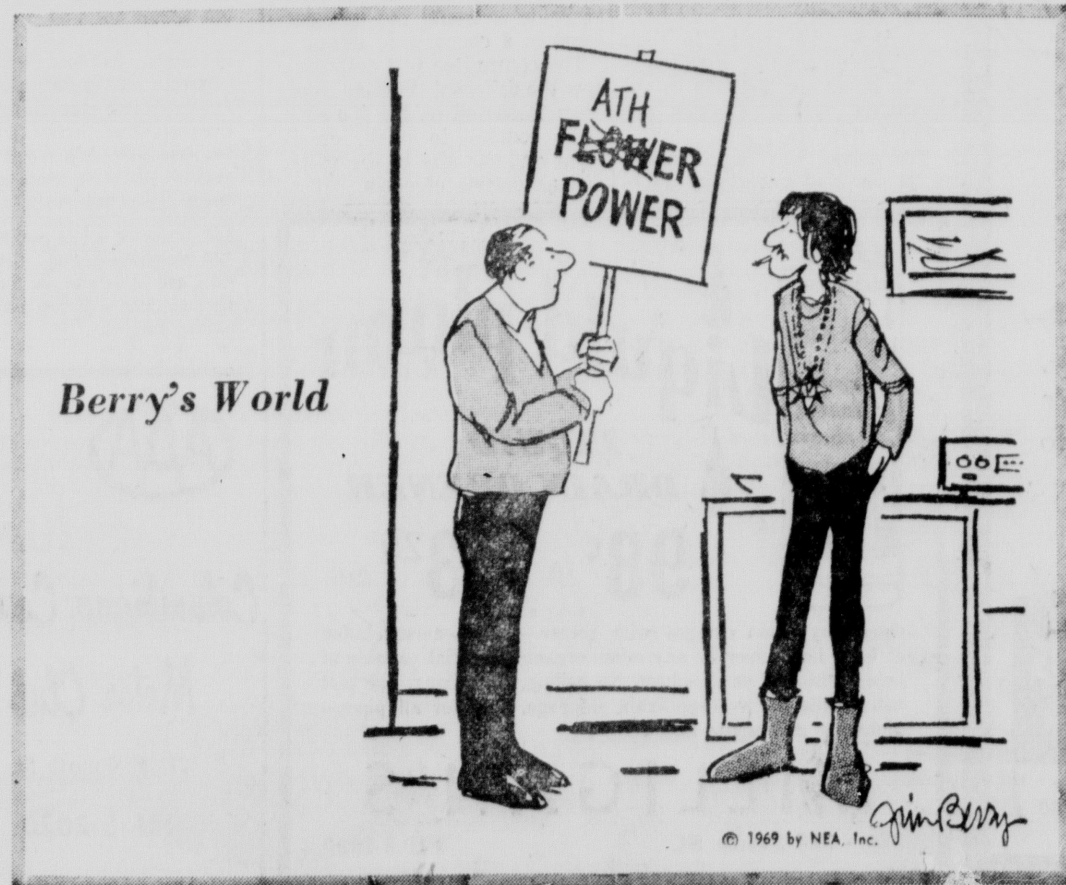

This is the end of the sixties. Let it be the end of an era for all those whose swaggering and control of the labor market in "urbanity" swells their pockets as well as their heads.

DAVID LAWRENCE

Key To Peace In Moscow

President Nixon is making clear to the Western European nations that the United States cannot "go it alone" in world affairs.

He has been trying by tactful and yet frank discussion with the leaders of the various governments to emphasize that more and more, as the burdens of armament increase, there must be collaboration and co-operation between allies, whether through NATO or some other alliance.

Only the Soviet Union has benefited by the discord in the West. Gen. De Gaulle has been following a nationalist policy which tends to discourage the achievement of a union of the free countries. Yet in two world wars France has been saved through the balance of power furnished by the United States.

A BIG CHANCE has developed, however, since the close of World War II. The increase in nuclear strength of both the Soviet Union and the United States has been a dominant factor in world diplomacy. France possesses nuclear weapons but could not defend itself effectively against Russia without American help.

The universal supposition that nuclear war is improbable has transformed the nature of Western Europe's defense problems. Conventional military forces have not been built up on the theory that a ground war was less and less likely to happen because of the danger that it might grow into a nuclear conflict.

The truth is the various countries in Europe have been feeling secure because they were convinced that the United States and Russia would not allow a nuclear holocaust to take place.

The nations of Europe, moreover, have not wished to spend large sums on armament. Even though basic principles that are vital to the preservation of world peace have promoted the United States to put a large army into South Vietnam in order to repel aggression, the Europeans have maintained an attitude of detachment from the conflict in Southeast Asia.

President Nixon, in his talks with officials of the Western European governments, has not indicated just what line the United States may take in connection with the Vietnam negotiations now being carried on in Paris.

But it is evident that he does not wish to make any threats or announce any new commitments at this time because he is obviously trying to gain the support of the Western European governments.

He may have to agree to maintain a large military force in Europe instead of reducing American participation in NATO.

What Mr. Nixon would like, of course, would be to bring about harmony in Western Europe and then approach the Moscow government with a plan for a reduction of armament everywhere.

Only a few of the experts in Russian affairs, however, believe that the Kremlin is ready to change its policy and refrain from further intrusion in other countries, which, of course, could be a danger to the peace on the continent.

The invasion of Czechoslovakia has left a deep imprint on the minds of all diplomats in Europe and they now are more concerned about the future of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization than they were prior to the recent increase of Soviet occupation forces in Eastern Europe.

Mr. Nixon rightly recognizes that the key to peace in the world is in Moscow and that the United States, by itself, cannot persuade the Communists to change their course. This can be accomplished only if the countries in Western Europe show a readiness to act together in a common defense program that will deter any Soviet military aggression.

THE PRESIDENT is learning the inside story of Europe's problems. When he has been thoroughly familiarized with all phases of the defense requirements of Western Europe, he will be able to discuss with the Russians steps looking toward a reduction of armament and other action that would diminish the chances of further Communist entanglements in the Middle East.

This would be concrete evidence of a shift from a psychology of military power to a reliance on the use of reason in preserving the peace of the world.

It's a case of up or shut up and the Senate looks as if it is about to put up.

The Right Philosophy

The same philosophy that has guided the conduct of President Nixon's tour of Europe apparently will prevail when Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York undertakes his mission to Latin America.

The governor, speaking rather bluntly about his trip, said he considers it most important to listen to the Latin leaders, to find out their reactions, what they see as possibilities, their hopes and aspirations, and their fears.

THEN, HE SAID, this information must be blended into common goals and programs.

The governor severely criticizes American politicians for their policies so far as they pertain to Latin America. He said they "tend to express their own opinions prior to consultation without any real knowledge of the situation, and then there is no sense of identification or common objective with the other American republics."

Gov. Rockefeller thus has made public what he has been saying privately to his associates — that he believes this country generally has tried to force policies on Latin American leaders without having asked them what they think is best.

Observing that back in the days of the Roosevelt administration the United States policy was one of sincerely searching for a common purpose, the governor said, "They don't do it that way anymore. They just rush in a big group of Americans and spend a lot of money. God knows where it goes."

Apparently then, President Nixon's special emissary to Latin America is convinced that Uncle Sam has badly neglected the countries of Latin America. He is equally convinced that we must employ greater sensitivity in our dealing with these nations.

HE INTENDS for his mission to be primarily fact-finding in nature, with the real needs of the Latin countries his prime concern.

Gov. Rockefeller brings to his task a considerable experience in Latin American relations. In addition, he has a ranch in Venezuela and speaks Spanish fluently.

His assignment may well pay big dividends. If it does, it will be none too soon. For there is potential for great trouble in Latin America.

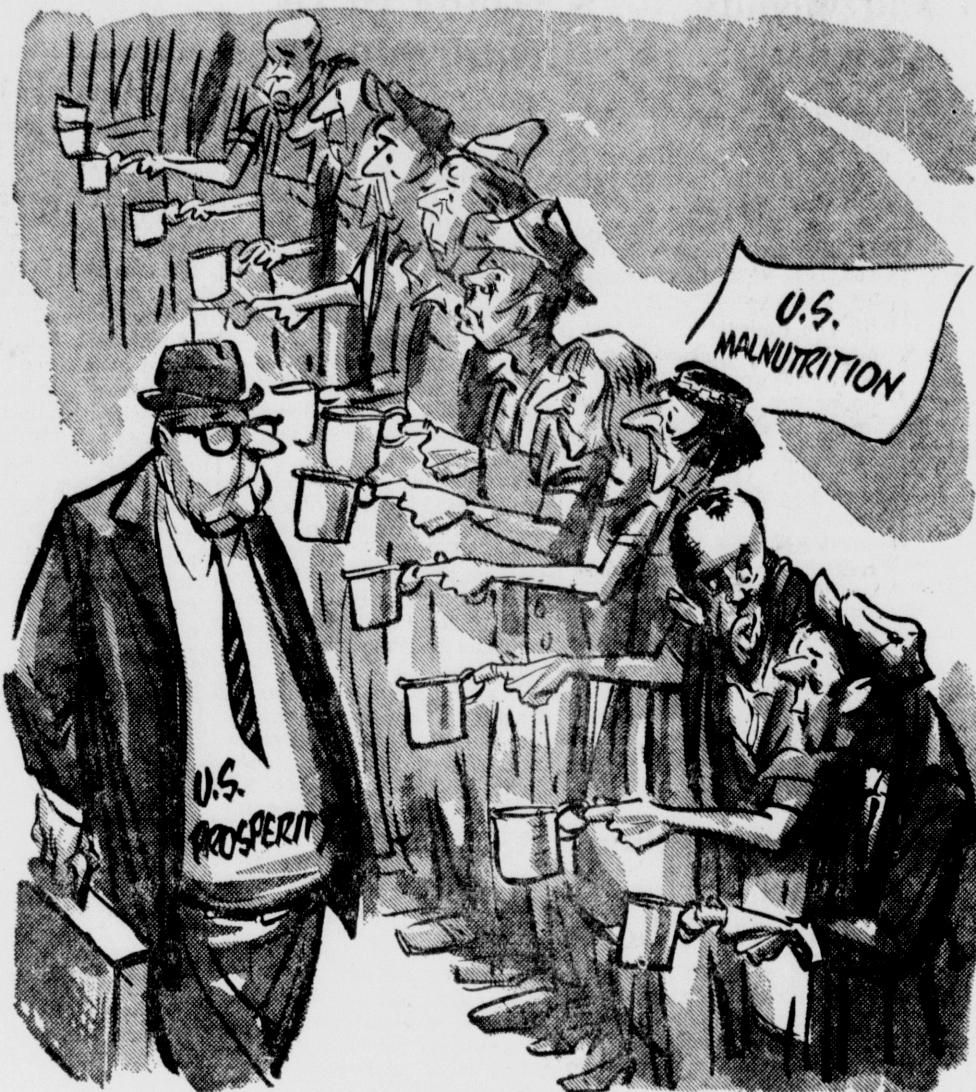

We wish to express our appreciation to the Chester volunteer fire department, the Lawrenceville volunteer fire department, the East Liverpool Civil Defense and to all the many others who helped at the time of the tragic drowning of a member of our family Feb. 7. A simple thank you seems so inadequate, but it is a comfort to know we have so many unselfish people in our communities.

VICTOR RIESEL

End Of An Era Nearing

WASHINGTON — Apparently in some circles, there's not as much of a generation gap as it seems. Take the powerful 38-year-old building and construction under chief Guido Iozzi Jr., whose muscle and imagination have not yet gone to fat.

His success went to his pockets, as well as his head. Now he's wandering around under a $30,000 bail bond, awaiting sentence which could net him 63 years in the federal penitentiary.

Mr. Iozzi, who has some influential friends in the nation's shadowland establishment, personifies one of the reasons it's regrettable the AFL-CIO's high command did not revive and revitalize its own policing system, the Ethical Practices Committee, when the Executive Council met in Bal Harbour, Fla., last week.

This committee did clean house in '57 and '58, as Jimmy Hoffa has reason to know. But it has been mostly files these past few years, and now the committee is dead, as is its former chairman, the late George Harrison, who for so many years drafted so many of labor's resolutions.

WITHOUT ITS LAW and order committee, the AFL-CIO can hardly know what's happening down below. It's going to be tough on the labor movement. Actually, there are enough Iozzis to alarm the public, motivate regional prosecutors and alienate some of its friends, even in the Congress.

Mr. Iozzi made good inside labor at an age which is quite "early" in his field. At 33, he rocketed rather explosively from being business agent of an iron workers local to the presidency of the Baltimore (Md.) Building and Construction Trades (Union) Council.

He had a penchant for language as tough as his muscle. Also he liked money. There was testimony that he even went after a contractor who is the father-in-law of Baltimore's mayor. Mr. Iozzi was accused of taking sums ranging up to $10,000 as payoffs. He was charged with saying that he had 60 men ready for some rather violent action when he needed them. One witness, a contractor, reported that he and Mr. Iozzi went for a drive, and in the car he was told how much it would cost for him to work on a municipal courthouse job. Another contractor found a "hangman's noose" swaying on the porch of a building he was using as an office.

There were old-fashioned movie-script sequences describing cash bribes handed over in markets. At the trial in the Alexandria, Va., federal court (held there after a successful motion for change of venue), Mr. Iozzi was convicted on six counts. He was found guilty of extorting $3,000 and $10,000 from two Maryland building contractors, and attempting to extort $20,000 from a third. Three counts were violation of the Taft-Hartley Law and three under the Hobbs Anti-Terror Extortion Act.

SO SUCCESSFULLY DID he sell labor peace that the Mafia took a good look at the Baltimore market. Some Cosa Nostra chaps thought they'd move in and take over. They did not. But there's another story, and now, with Vito Genovese dead and the Maryland prosecutor, young Stephen Sachs, "hot," the boys decided to stay in New York.

Point is, there are many big cities where the mob is operating on this front. Almost everywhere, federal prosecutors are moving against them—New York, New England, New Jersey, and points south and west.

Soon there will be some spectacular trials. Later, when some of the Justice Dept. strike forces collate their intelligence material, there will be other courtroom melodramas, starring some local gentry who believed their connections were sufficient to immunize them. Not so.

NO DOUBT THE PUBLIC then will blame the men at the top of the labor movement. True, they're almost powerless against the local muscle and hoods. Just look at a Laborers local in Queens, N.Y., which has been led by one of the toughest musclemen known in this land. This local, which worked the World's Fair, is rotten. The national laborers union finally was needed into putting it under trusteeship. Authorities say it's still rotten.

So are some of its "sister locals" in other parts of the country. All right. So leaders of unions can't subpoena, search and seize. They can't do physical battle. But they can make the record with their own national probes.

The government, led by Attorney General John Mitchell's Justice Dept., is moving. It must. Hundreds of billions of dollars will be spent during the coming decades remodeling the cities, "skilling up" the unskilled for the sake of the nation, the ghetto and a durable peace on our streets.

This is the end of the sixties. Let it be the end of an era for all those whose swaggering and control of the labor market in "urbania" swells their pockets as well as their heads.

Key To Peace In Moscow

President Nixon is making clear to the Western European nations that the United States cannot "go it alone" in world affairs.

He has been trying by tactful and yet frank discussion with the leaders of the various governments to emphasize that more and more, as the burdens of armament increase, there must be collaboration and co-operation between allies, whether through NATO or some other alliance.

Only the Soviet Union has benefited by the discord in the West. Gen. De Gaulle has been following a nationalist policy which tends to discourage the achievement of a union of the free countries. Yet in two world wars France has been saved through the balance of power furnished by the United States.

A BIG CHANCE has developed, however, since the close of World War II. The increase in nuclear strength of both the Soviet Union and the United States has been a dominant factor in world diplomacy. France possesses nuclear weapons but could not defend itself effectively against Russia without American help.

The universal supposition that nuclear war is improbable has transformed the nature of Western Europe's defense problems. Conventional military forces have not been built up on the theory that a ground war was less and less likely to happen because of the danger that it might grow into a nuclear conflict.

The truth is the various countries in Europe have been feeling secure because they were convinced that the United States and Russia would not allow a nuclear holocaust to take place.

The nations of Europe, moreover, have not wished to spend large sums on armament. Even though basic principles that are vital to the preservation of world peace have promoted the United States to put a large army into South Vietnam in order to repel aggression, the Europeans have maintained an attitude of detachment from the conflict in Southeast Asia.

President Nixon, in his talks with officials of the Western European governments, has not indicated just what line the United States may take in connection with the Vietnam negotiations now being carried on in Paris.

But it is evident that he does not wish to make any threats or announce any new commitments at this time because he is obviously trying to gain the support of the Western European governments.

He may have to agree to maintain a large military force in Europe instead of reducing American participation in NATO.

What Mr. Nixon would like, of course, would be to bring about harmony in Western Europe and then approach the Moscow government with a plan for a reduction of armament everywhere.

Only a few of the experts in Russian affairs, however, believe that the Kremlin is ready to change its policy and refrain from further intrusion in other countries, which, of course, could be a danger to the peace on the continent.

The invasion of Czechoslovakia has left a deep imprint on the minds of all diplomats in Europe and they now are more concerned about the future of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization than they were prior to the recent increase of Soviet occupation forces in Eastern Europe.

Mr. Nixon rightly recognizes that the key to peace in the world is in Moscow and that the United States, by itself, cannot persuade the Communists to change their course. This can be accomplished only if the countries in Western Europe show a readiness to act together in a common defense program that will deter any Soviet military aggression.

THE PRESIDENT is learning the inside story of Europe's problems. When he has been thoroughly familiarized with all phases of the defense requirements of Western Europe, he will be able to discuss with the Russians steps looking toward a reduction of armament and other action that would diminish the chances of further Communist entanglements in the Middle East.

This would be concrete evidence of a shift from a psychology of military power to a reliance on the use of reason in preserving the peace of the world.

Miss Kathy Lynn Starr, Thomas G. Esken Marry

The traditions were observed when Miss Kathy Lynn Starr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Starr of 861 Lisbon St., became the bride of Thomas Gerald Esken, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Esken of 712 W. 9th St., Feb. 14 at 7 p. m. in the Calvary United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Dean McElroy officiated for the double-ring, candlelight ceremony. William Richards presented a half-hour recital of organ music. Thomas Calhoun, uncle of the bride, was soloist.

GIVEN IN marriage by her father, the bride wore a full-length gown of Chantilly lace adorned with sequins. The basque bodice was designed with a scalloped Sabrina neckline and long, pointed sleeves. The bouffant skirt was formed of five lace tiers cascading into a chapel train.

A crown of seed pearls and rhinestones held her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion. She carried an arrangement of white pompons and stephanotis centered with an orchid and tied with satin streamers. Her pearl necklace was the gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Sayre Wilson, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Mrs. Jerry Gavens was bridesmaid. They appeared in full-length gowns of blue chiffon fashioned with Watteau trains. Their matching Dior bow headpieces held theater veils. They carried small white Bibles covered with maline and adorned with lily-of-the-valley streamers.

Susan Wilson, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a long, pink silk brocade gown with matching veiled headpiece and carried a basket of red roses. Robbie Wilson, the bride's nephew, was ringbearer.

Paul Grafton served as best man. Ushers were Henry Esken, Jerry Gavens, David Wilson and Sayre Wilson.

The mother of the bride chose a beige lace dress with brown accessories and yellow rosebud corsage. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a blue wool dress with black accessories and pink rosebud corsage.

A RECEPTION for 100 followed in the social rooms. The bride's table was centered with a three-tier cake topped with a miniature bridal couple. Crystal candelabra completed the setting.

Aides were Mrs. James Dickey, Mrs. Dean McElroy, Mrs. Jack Allison and Mrs. Sam Claypool.

Following a honeymoon trip, the newlyweds are residing on Lincoln Ave. For traveling, the bride wore a brown brocade suit with black and white coat and her bridal orchid.

The bride is a member of the senior class at East Liverpool High School. Her husband, a graduate of the high school, has completed three years service in the Navy and is now employed as a warehouseman at the Taylor, Smith and Taylor Co.

past week in support of black lung legislation, thus idling the nation's top coal-producing state.

The bill, which now goes to the Senate for action, revises the Workmen's Compensation law to group black lung, silicosis and some other respiratory ailments under the term pneumoconiosis.

Under provisions of the bill, a claimant with a respiratory disability and who has been exposed at work "to the hazard of inhaling minute particles of dust" for 10 of the 15 years preceding his last exposure would be presumed to have contracted OP (occupational pneumoconiosis) as a result of his employment.

While a compensable case would not automatically be presumed without 10 years of exposure, a claimant able to show he had OP and a disability would be able to qualify for benefits on the basis of two years of exposure in the 10 years preceding his last exposure.

Included in the 13 judiciary committee amendments adopted by the House was one that deletes from the presumption provisions the requirement that the respiratory disability "be consistent with a diagnosis of occupational pneumoconiosis."

The House also adopted an amendment sponsored by Del. Nelson that would make it mandatory to consider impairment of the claimant's ability — compared with "an average man of his age" — to function normally and stand exertion.

It was adopted 62-33 over opposition expressed by the chairman of the judiciary committee, Del. J. E. "Ned" Watson, D-Marion.

Kaufman said it would provide "useful guidelines" for making awards.

Former Grand Regents Honored At 'Birthday'

Former grand regents of Court Dunne, Catholic Daughters of America, were among the guests at the 44th birthday party of the court Thursday night at the Travelers Hotel.

They included Mrs. Helen Beck, Miss Helen Fitzgerald, Mrs. Lillian McKeever, Mrs. Dolores Brown and Miss Helen Auld, a charter member.

The welcome address was given by Mrs. Margaret Tatgenhorst, grand regent. Other guests were Fr. William Lawler, pastor of St. Aloysius Church, Fr. Christopher Lynch and Fr. Joseph Fata, assistant pastors.

Charter members who were unable to be present are Jane Harker, Grace Stoney, Florence Mettsch, Mary White, Marie White and Marie Crytzer.

The dinner tables were decorated with various flower ceramic containers, made by Mrs. Dolores Brown, with varied colored large sunflower heads. Each person received a small favor. Mrs. Connie Bangor presented the dinner music.

After the dinner, cards were played. Prizes for cards went to Mrs. Frances Savage, Mrs. Catherine Duffy, Mrs. Anna Booth, Mrs. Elizabeth Jackson, Mrs. Leona McKeever, Mrs. Violet Maloney, Mrs. Helen Beck and Mrs. Edna Sweeney. Special prizes were presented Mrs. Ann Doyle, Mrs. Bangor and Mrs. Ann Pinney.

The event was concluded with the serving of a birthday cake and punch by a committee headed by Mrs. Brown and Miss Edith Fone. Fifty attended.

Finance Firm Moves To New City Location

The Seaboard Finance Co. offices were moved today to a new location at 504 Washington St., James Delligatti, manager, announced.

The firm, which has been in East Liverpool for 10 years and which employs four, moved to the former Jerry's Auto store site from a Diamond location—525 Market St.

Delligatti, of W. 4th St., said the firm occupies the newly-modeled Washington St. section of the first-floor of the building owned by Joseph Holloway of Cleveland.

appraisal of real estate in Columbiana County, the valuation of the East Liverpool School District was increased from $52,000,000 to $54,500,258.

The board will also decide the time limit on the levies. Under a new state law, continuing levies may be approved by voters, or a set time — such as five years — can still be designated.

Board members have emphasized the vital need for approval of the existing levies. They said it is doubtful if existing funds would permit continued operation of the schools even to January 1970 because of increasing operating costs.

If the renewals are not passed, and operating money is cut in half the first of the year, the opinion is that there would be no alternative but to close the schools.

The board and administrators believe the new operating funds asked for last September are needed to maintain and improve the quality of education now being offered the students of the district, and to meet the new minimum state standards.

The board is also expected to approve rentals, appoint an at-

Miss Kathy Lynn Starr, Thomas G. Esken Marry

The traditions were observed when Miss Kathy Lynn Starr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Starr of 861 Lisbon St., became the bride of Thomas Gerald Esken, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Esken of 712 W. 9th St., Feb. 14 at 7 p. m. in the Calvary United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Dean McElroy officiated for the double-ring, candlelight ceremony. William Richards presented a half-hour recital of organ music. Thomas Calhoun, uncle of the bride, was soloist.

MRS. THOMAS ESKEN
Residing Here.

GIVEN IN marriage by her father, the bride wore a full-length gown of Chantilly lace adorned with sequins. The basque bodice was designed with a scalloped Sabrina neckline and long, pointed sleeves. The bouffant skirt was formed of five lace tiers cascading into a chapel train.

A crown of seed pearls and rhinestones held her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion. She carried an arrangement of white pompons and stephanotis centered with an orchid and tied with satin streamers. Her pearl necklace was the gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Sayre Wilson, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Mrs. Jerry Givens was bridesmaid. They appeared in full-length gowns of blue chiffon fashioned with Watteau trains. Their matching Dior bow headpieces held theater veils. They carried small white Bibles covered with maline and adorned with lily - of - the-valley streamers.

Susan Wilson, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a long, pink silk brocade gown with matching veiled headpiece and carried a basket of red roses. Robbie Wilson, the bride's nephew, was ringbearer.

Paul Grafton served as best man. Ushers were Henry Esken, Jerry Givens, David Wilson and Sayre Wilson.

The mother of the bride chose a beige lace dress with brown accessories and yellow rosebud corsage.

The bridegroom's mother was attired in a blue wool dress with black accessories and pink rosebud corsage.

A RECEPTION for 100 followed in the social rooms. The bride's table was centered with a three-tier cake topped with a miniature bride couple. Crystal candelabra completed the setting.

Aides were Mrs. James Dick-ey, Mrs. Dean McElroy, Mrs. Jack Allison and Mrs. Sam Claypool.

Following a honeymoon trip, the newlyweds are residing on Lincoln Ave. For traveling, the bride wore a brown brocade suit with black and white coat and her bridal orchid.

The bride is a member of the senior class at East Liverpool High School. Her husband, a graduate of the high school, has completed three years service in the Navy and is now employed as a warehouseman at the Taylor, Smith and Taylor Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Russell of Church Ln., uncle and aunt of the bride, entertained for the rehearsal party.

past week in support of black lung legislation, thus idling the nation's top coal - producing state.

The bill, which now goes to the Senate for action, revises the Workmen's Compensation law to group black lung, silicosis and some other respiratory ailments under the term pneumoconiosis.

Under provisions of the bill, a claimant with a respiratory disability and who has been exposed at work "to the hazard of inhaling minute particles of dust" for 10 of the 15 years preceding his last exposure would be presumed to have contracted OP (occupational pneumoconiosis) as a result of his employment.

While a compensable case would not automatically be presumed without 10 years of exposure, a claimant able to show he had OP and a disability would be able to qualify for benefits on the basis of two years of exposure in the 10 years preceding his last exposure.

Included in the 13 judiciary committee amendments adopted by the House was one that deletes from the presumption provisions the requirement that the respiratory disability "be consistent with a diagnosis of occupational pneumoconiosis."

The House also adopted an amendment sponsored by Del. Nelson that would make it mandatory to consider impairment of the claimant's ability — compared with "an average man of his age" — to function normally and stand exertion.

It was adopted 82-33 over opposition expressed by the chairman of the judiciary committee, Del. J. E. "Ned" Watson, D-Marion.

Kaufman said it would provide "useful guidelines" for making awards.

Free Methodists To Hold Meeting

The Rochester District of the Free Methodist Churches of the Pittsburgh Conference will hold a two-day missionary convention at the Oakland Free Methodist Church Monday and Tuesday, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Seventeen churches — from New Brighton to Martins Ferry — are in the district.

THE SPEAKERS will be Robert Magee, principal of a high school for black Africans in Rhodesia, and Robert B. Haslam of Winona Lake, Ind., missionary deputation secretary of the denomination.

Mr. Magee has been living in Rhodesia the last five years and has directed the Free Methodist mission high school at Lundi since it opened in 1965. The school serves an area of 12,000 square miles.

In addition to his responsibilities as principal, he has helped direct construction at Lundi missions. A new clinic - dispensary was completed in 1967 and he also supervised the construction of huts to house outpatients and a residence for nurses.

He will accompany his presentation with colored slides and artifacts.

ROBERT MAGEE

MR. HASLAM has served as a missionary for many years in the Philippines.

The Rev. Richard D. Merkle, district superintendent, will be in charge of the two-day event.

The Rev. Jonathan M. McKee, pastor, extends an invitation to residents of the area to attend.

Local Group Attends Event At Pittsburgh

Three representatives of the East Liverpool area chapter of the Red Cross, attended an all-day "Service to Military Families" meeting Thursday at the Pittsburgh - Allegheny chapter in Pittsburgh.

They are Mrs. J. Donald Thompson, volunteer field consultant of the combined service area; Mrs. Doris Shope, executive director of the local chapter, and William McNicol, SMF volunteer worker of the local chapter.

Mrs. Eleanor Bradley, SMF chairman of the Pittsburgh-Allegheny chapter, was in charge of the meeting. First Lt. Joseph Shade, head of the Army dispensary at the Pittsburgh Airport, discussed the armed forces' medical care program.

John Raymond, Red Cross field director at the Veterans Administration regional office in Pittsburgh, discussed service to veterans and changes in benefits and requirements.

200 Applications Filed For Space In New High Rise

The Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority said today 200 applications have been filed to date for space in the new high-rise Fawcett Apartments in West End, which will be ready for occupancy in the fall.

Some of the applicants do not qualify as tenants in the 130-unit structure that will provide housing for the elderly, the authority said. It has ruled that an applicant must have resided in East Liverpool at least a year; the head of the house must be at least 62 and the maximum income must not exceed $2,600 for an individual or $3,600 for a couple. The determination of income is based on all sources, including rent, interest and pensions and other sources.

Rent will be based on the ability to pay, but the minimum will be $30 and the maximum will be $65. The charge includes water and sewage service.

The 11-story fireproof building will have two elevators and two stairways. Postal service will be provided, along with a library, lounge, ceramics room and community room. Outdoor parking areas will be provided for cars. The authority will set up its offices in the new building.

The Cub Scouts performed a skit, "The Making of a Cub Scout," under the direction of Mrs. Betty Cataldo and Mrs. Lois Prokop, den mothers.

Awaits Hearing

LISBON—Alexander E. Davis, 49, of Lisbon Rd 1 is awaiting a hearing before Mayor Clyde B. Pike on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol. Local police cited him at 3 a. m. today after a breathalyzer test at Ohio Highway Patrol Post 15.

Mishaps Listed By Police Here

No one was injured in two accidents investigated by East Liverpool police Friday afternoon and early this morning.

Officers said Floyd O'Connor Bucher, 56, of 2110 Lisbon St. was driving east on E. 6th St. near Broadway when he halted for another car ahead of him.

His 1964 sedan then was struck in the rear by a 1963 sedan operated by Ralph E. Miller, 61, of 227 Center Alley. The accident was timed at 4:15 p. m. Friday. No citation was issued.

An Ahquippa driver was cited for leaving the scene of an accident as the result of a two-car accident in Al's parking lot at 12:33 a. m. today.

Ronald D. Caley Jr., 18, of Ahquippa, was backing his 1964 sedan out of the lot and it struck a parked car belonging to Bernard J. Keuper of 1180 Pennsylvania Ave.

Farmers Reminded Of Signing Deadline

LISBON — Three weeks remain for Columbiana County farmers to sign up in the wheat and feed grain programs, according to J. Glenn Bates, chairman of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

He said the ASC office in the Gallo Building on the Square will be open from 8:30 a. m. until noon Saturday, March 15, for the convenience of those who have jobs off the farm and are unable to sign up during regular office hours.

He reminds farmers they must sign by March 21 to receive benefits in payment for either planting or diverting wheat or feed grains. Failure to sign could affect a farmer's 1970 wheat allotment, he pointed out.

Lunch Period Saves 120 As Steel Frame Topples

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Fate saved 120 workmen from injury Friday when the framework of the new University of Dayton Field House collapsed into a crazy pile of steel girders.

The accident occurred while most of the men were on lunch and out of the path of the falling steel.

Only injuries were to three plumbers, who were not hurt seriously. They are Dan Severt, 41, Cliff Hewitt, 42, and Robert Pickerell, 25, all of Dayton.

Cause of the accident has not been determined. Officials said there could be any number of causes, ranging from faulty structural steel to poor density of the ground or an engineering error.

Elmer Stransberry, city superintendent of building inspection, said cause of the collapse might never be known.

"From what I could see, it just collapsed," said Pickerell, one of the injured men. He said one end of the skeleton frame work suddenly buckled.

Guest Pastor To Be Speaker At Chestnut Grove Services

A Congo teen-ager was seriously injured Friday night in Hancock County when struck by an auto whose driver did not stop.

Ryda Anderson, 18, of 2295 Congo Rd. was in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered when hit by a car about 7:11 p. m. Hancock Sheriff's deputies said she was walking north along the Congo Rd. south of the Globe Refractories plant when the accident occurred.

Her parents said she was on her way to see a girlfriend next door.

She received a lacerated forehead and lower leg, abrasions of the abdomen, right thigh, and left lower leg, contusions of the left eye and a possible fracture of the right leg.

Deputies are continuing the investigation. They have been unable to question Miss Anderson due to her injuries.

Midland Rotary Elects Directors At Meeting

Six directors were elected to one-year terms at a meeting of the Midland Rotary Club at the New Riviera Thursday.

They include Dr. Tom Bonfiglio, Dr. James Swinkler, James Migliore, Joseph Jonas, Homer Paul and Ernest Dostalik. Other officers will be elected later.

Robert M. Mitesser and Howard West were guests of Sid Rietzer.

2 Mothers Slain

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Two former mental patients killed their mothers Friday night, one with a knife and the other with a piece of electric wire, police said. The two killings were not related, police said, but both occurred at about the same time.

MOMENT OF MEDITATION
New Morality

In recent weeks we have been dealing with some of the problems that we face as a nation. There is a decay that seems to be eating away the moral fiber of our great country. We must do what we can to stop it.

Recently we have been hearing quite a lot about a "new morality". The doctrine seems to be sweeping our country among the young people and even quite a few of the older ones. We need to take a second look at it. The term, "new morality" is actually not a correct term. The doctrine is not at all new. It is as old as man himself. Neither is the term "morality" correct. A better term would be "immorality". To show that this is true, we wish to point out some of the statements made by those who are the champions of this so called "new morality". Recently, a Professor told a group of young people (mostly of high school age) "that neither rape, nor incest, nor any other sexual act, nor indeed the denial of one's Lord or the violation of the First Commandment by having another god, is necessarily wrong." He went ahead to urge that if the situation is right, any of these things would be morally right. Read this statement again. It is a little shocking to know that our young people are being fed this "doctrine of the Devil" under the guise of morality. This is nothing but base immorality. Certainly to a person who wants to live an immoral life this kind of teaching sounds good. To the God-fearing person, this is a shocking commentary on the times in which we live.

When man finally gets to the place that the only standard that governs his life is his own passion, he has taken a standard that is no higher than that of an animal. An animal is driven to do things merely according to his desires. This, in essence, is what this Professor was telling this group of young people. Friends, if our country would ever fully adopt this "new morality" it would not be safe for any of us to live here. A man who has no standard other than that of a brute beast, becomes a danger to all.

Do not be deceived by this doctrine. It is merely an attempt by some to live an immoral life and to try to cover it by some form of respectability by calling it the "new morality".

Yes, God has given us moral standards. They are recorded in the Bible. When these standards are respected and followed, the life of man can be happy and peaceful. The one who rejects these standards never finds lasting happiness and he never is at peace. The troubles of this world will never be solved by turning away from God but to Him.

Free Methodists To Hold Meeting

The Rochester District of the Free Methodist Churches of the Pittsburgh Conference will hold a two-day missionary convention at the Oakland Free Methodist Church Monday and Tuesday, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Seventeen churches — from New Brighton to Martins Ferry — are in the district.

THE SPEAKERS will be Robert Magee, principal of a high school for black Africans in Rhodesia, and Robert B. Haslam of Winona Lake, Ind., missionary deputation secretary of the denomination.

Mr. Magee has been living in Rhodesia the last five years and has directed the Free Methodist mission high school at Lundi since it opened in 1965. The school serves an area of 12,000 square miles.

In addition to his responsibilities as principal, he has helped direct construction at Lundi missions. A new clinic — dispensary was completed in 1967 and he also supervised the construction of huts to house outpatients and a residence for nurses.

He will accompany his presentation with colored slides and artifacts.

ROBERT MAGEE

MR. HASLAM has served as a missionary for many years in the Philippines.

The Rev. Richard D. Merkle, district superintendent, will be in charge of the two-day event.

The Rev. Jonathan M. McKee, pastor, extends an invitation to residents of the area to attend.

Local Group Attends Event At Pittsburgh

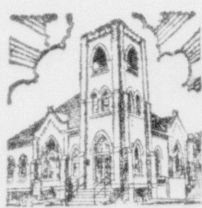

Three representatives of the East Liverpool area chapter of the Red Cross, attended an all-day "Service to Military Families" meeting Thursday at the Pittsburgh - Allegheny chapter in Pittsburgh.

They are Mrs. J. Donald Thompson, volunteer field consultant of the combined service area; Mrs. Doris Shope, executive director of the local chapter, and William McNeil, SMF volunteer worker of the local chapter.

Mrs. Eleanor Bradley, SMF chairman of the Pittsburgh-Allegheny chapter, was in charge of the meeting. First Lt. Joseph Shade, head of the Army dispensary at the Pittsburgh Airport, discussed the armed forces' medical care program.

John Raymond, Red Cross field director at the Veterans Administration regional office in Pittsburgh, discussed service to veterans and changes in benefits and requirements.

200 Applications Filed For Space In New High Rise

The Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority said today 200 applications have been filed to date for space in the new high-rise Fawcett Apartments in West End, which will be ready for occupancy in the fall.

Some of the applicants do not qualify as tenants in the 130-unit structure that will provide housing for the elderly, the authority said. It has ruled that an applicant must have resided in East Liverpool at least a year; the head of the house must be at least 62 and the maximum income must not exceed $2,600 for an individual or $3,600 for a couple. The determination of income is based on all sources, including rent, interest and pensions and other sources.

Rent will be based on the ability to pay, but the minimum will be $30 and the maximum will be $65. The charge includes water and sewage service.

The 11-story fireproof building will have two elevators and two stairways. Postal service will be provided, along with a library, lounge, ceramics room and community room. Outdoor parking areas will be provided for cars. The authority will set up its offices in the new building.

The guest speaker was A. J. Brown, the original cubmaster of the group.

The Cubs performed a skit, "The Making of a Cub Scout," under the direction of Mrs. Betty Cataldo and Mrs. Lois Prokop, den mothers.

Awaits Hearing

LISBON—Alexander E. Davis, 49, of Lisbon Rd 1 is awaiting a hearing before Mayor Clyde B. Pike on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol. Local police cited him at 3 a. m. today after a breathalyzer test at Ohio Highway Patrol Post 15.

Mishaps Listed By Police Here

No one was injured in two accidents investigated by East Liverpool police Friday afternoon and early this morning.

Officers said Floyd O'Connor, 56, of 2110 Lisbon St. was driving east on E. 6th St. near Broadway when he halted for another car ahead of him.

His 1964 sedan then was struck in the rear by a 1963 sedan operated by Ralph E. Miller, 61, of 227 Center Alley.

The accident was timed at 4:15 p. m. Friday. No citation was issued.

An Aliquippa driver was cited for leaving the scene of an accident as the result of a two-car accident in A's parking lot at 12:33 a. m. today.

Ronald D. Caley Jr., 18, of Aliquippa, was backing his 1964 sedan out of the lot and it struck a parked car belonging to Bernard J. Keuper of 1180 Pennsylvania Ave.

Farmers Reminded Of Signing Deadline

LISBON — Three weeks remain for Columbiana County farmers to sign up in the wheat and feed grain programs, according to J. Glenn Bates, chairman of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

He said the ASC office in the Gallo Building on the Square will be open from 8:30 a. m. until noon Saturday, March 15, for the convenience of those who have jobs off the farm and are unable to sign up during regular office hours.

He reminds farmers they must sign by March 21 to receive benefits in payment for either planting or diverting wheat or feed grains. Failure to sign could affect a farmer's 1970 wheat allotment, he pointed out.

Lunch Period Saves 120 As Steel Frame Topples

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Fate saved 120 workmen from injury Friday when the framework of the new University of Dayton Field House collapsed into a crazy pile of steel girders.

The accident occurred while most of the men were on lunch and out of the path of the falling steel.

Only injuries were to three plumbers, who were not hurt seriously. They are Dan Severt, 41, Cliff Hewitt, 42, and Robert Pickrell, 25, all of Dayton.

Cause of the accident has not been determined. Officials said there could be any number of causes, ranging from faulty structural steel to poor density of the ground or an engineering error.

Elmer Stransberry, city superintendent of building inspection, said cause of the collapse might never be known.

"From what I could see, it just collapsed," said Pickrell, one of the injured men. He said one end of the skeleton frame work suddenly buckled.

Richard Flanker, a carpenter who was eating lunch nearby, said: "It seemed like a big four-engine jet just crashed. Everyone took off running to get the men out from under the steel."

Flanker said two men who were on a scaffold when the structure started collapsing jumped 35 feet to safety.

The building is being erected at a cost of $4.4 million. Charles W. Danis, president of the B. G. Danis Co., Inc., of Dayton, the firm constructing the facility, said an estimate of damage will not be available until next Monday or Tuesday. He said the project was insured.

Tom Fredericks, UD athletic director, said the arena now probably will not be completed by Dec. 1, the date it is scheduled to open.

But Danis was more optimistic. "We believe we can do it," he said. "We hope to be able to."

Construction began about three months ago and was progressing ahead of schedule when the accident happened.

Guest Pastor To Be Speaker At Chestnut Grove Services

The Rev. Charles R. McCall, a member of the philosophy and religion department of Mt. Vernon Nazarene College, will speak at the Chestnut Grove Church of the Nazarene near Hammondsville Sunday at 7:30 p. m.

A native of Lufkin, Tex., Rev. McCall moved to Mt. Vernon from San Antonio, where he was a Nazarene pastor. In 1949 he received an A.B. in philosophy at Bethany Nazarene College. He is a graduate of the Nazarene Theological Seminary with a B. D. in New Testament and he received the Th. M. in New Testament from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary at Ft. Worth, Tex. He is teaching courses in the Old and New Testament at the college this year. He also has taught at Castleberry High School, Ft. Worth, Tex., and at Harlandale Junior High School, San Antonio.

He has been a pastor in the denomination for 15 years and served as secretary for the San Antonio District a number of years. His wife is secretary to the dean of students at Mt. Vernon.

The Rev. Richard E. Phelps is host pastor.

Faith Talk Given To Midland Lions

Raymond Why of Chippewa Township, moderator for the Beaver Butler Presbytery, gave an illustrated talk on "Faith" at the annual brotherhood meeting of the Midland Lions Club at the First Presbyterian Church at Midland Thursday.

He said "F" was to face a neighbor and use self examination; "A" means action; "I" stands for influence on others; "T" for teaching, and "H" for hope which is necessary to succeed.

He was introduced by Leslie Roach, program chairman. A "sing out" group from the Fifth Ave. Methodist church of New Brighton, led by Bill Bierer, presented several numbers.

Special clergy guests included Deacon George Barnes, Mt. Olive Baptist Church; Fr. Stephen Burdis, Presentation Catholic Church; Deacon Ralph Pope, First Baptist Church; The Rev. W. S. River, First Methodist Church, and the Rev. George Bohlender, First Presbyterian Church, all of Midland.

Anthony Martell, president, presided. The invocation was given by Fr. Burdis and the benediction by Mr. Pope.

Home Improvement Talks Set In Hancock County

Home Improvement workshops for Newell, Chester and New Cumberland have been set for Monday, Tuesday and Thursday of next week. Oliver Johnson of the West Virginia University extension office in Hancock County announced today.

The workshops are scheduled for Wells Junior High School at Newell on Monday, Chester Junior High on Tuesday and at the Hancock County Courthouse Annex in New Cumberland on Thursday. They will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The Newell program includes discussion of "A Good Home for All Who Care" by Reta Clegg, county extension agent; "Credit for Home Improvements" by Collin L. Neal, vice president of the First National Bank at East Liverpool, and "Heating and Cooling Systems" by Ray A. Shaw, a Weirton architect.

At Chester, Tuesday, Miss Clegg will discuss "Planning the Kitchen for Your Home" and Arthur Selders, agricultural engineer at WVU will talk on "Insulating the Home." Johnson will discuss "Making Outside Improvements."

During the Thursday meeting at New Cumberland, Wilbur Dunlevy of the Dunlevy Construction Co. will lead a discussion on "Interior Building Materials." The meeting will be held in the old lockmaster's house at Lock 9.

"Credit Available for Low and Modest Incomes" will be explained by David Nicholson of the Farm and Home Administration and Gene Ankrum of ACME Paint Co. at Weirton will present a program on "How and When To Paint" and "Selection of Paints for Various Surfaces."

The workshops were arranged after a study by Barton Aschman Consultant Studies found more than 50 per cent of the county's homes to be in need of maintenance and repair.

The programs were planned by the county housing committee consisting of Wilbur Dunlevy, chairman; Mrs. Ruth Sprouse, vice chairman; Mrs. Gary Carpenter, home makers representative; Chester Ralston, county extension service committee, and David Nicholson farm and home representative.

Johnson said the programs are open to all county residents, and especially to those interested in improving their homes.

Two Will Screen Candidates For Post Of Superintendent

LISBON — The Columbiana County board of education has engaged Dr. Robert E. Wilson and Dr. Glenn Maynard of Kent State University to screen and refer candidates for the position of superintendent of county schools.

The contract of James L. McBride, superintendent since 1950 and an educator for 42 years, will expire July 31. Donald Rupert of New Waterford, board president, said Dr. Wilson is professor and chairman of the Department of Educational Administration at Kent and has served as consultant for many boards of education in Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware.

He also has been a special consultant for the U.S. Office of Education, the Ohio State Board of Education and the educational division of Peat, Arwick, Mitchell & Co., Washington, D.C.

Dr. Wilson has been a high tector of PGs; Perry W. Lamp, good will voyageur.

Honored guests will be Dale Allison, Evert Maki, George Laneve, Donald DeLong, Charles W. Morris, Robert House, Charles Huffman and Robert Sowers.

Women of the 8 and 40 will serve dinner upon completion of the wreck.

Appeal Planned By Liquor Board On Club License

The Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board has moved to appeal a ruling by Beaver County Judge Ralph Scatera in support of a liquor license for the Crucible Management Club in Industry.

Judge Scatera Feb. 17 issued an order overruling the liquor board's 1967 refusal to grant a permit for the club on the basis the borough's permit quota would be exceeded.

The club was seeking a special license on the grounds it was a resort and recreation operation. The liquor board has decided to appeal the Judge's ruling to the Superior Court, and has ordered all records forwarded to its prothonotary.

Hancock County Voiture 1459 of the 40 and 8 Society will honor Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. Sunday afternoon with a "wreck" at the Crestler American Legion Post on Carolina Ave. The event is scheduled for 1 p.m.

A class of 30 PGs will honor West Virginia's governor, who has been a member of the Hancock County society for 15 years.

The Stark County Voiture 10 of Canton "wrecking crew," under the direction of Bob Harris, will perform. The team has gained recognition throughout Ohio and Midwest during the past decade.

Chef de Gare Vito H. Catenaro of Voiture 1459 announced committee appointments.

They are: Mike Sweeney, chairman; John Merriman, Joseph Fuller and Emmet Brewster, wreck crew; Harry Hall, doctor's aide; Josiah Wedgewood, Dwight Allison, Sweeney and Wayne Pallard, registration; Glenn Cordray, John Fred Morris and Harold Dickey, pro-

HARLEY C. JONES
Retires After 20 Years.

Harley C. Jones Ends Service At Mill In Midland

Harley C. Jones of East Liverpool was one of three management employees who retired today at the Crucible Stainless Steel and Alloy Divisions of Colt Industries in Midland.

Jones has almost 20 years service as turn foreman, mechanical maintenance — Cold Strip. He joined Crucible in 1949 as a supervisor after serving in maintenance for Dingle and Clark, electrical contractors of Pittsburgh, who assisted in construction of the Cold Strip. He previously worked 17 years for Republic Steel at Canton as a maintenance foreman in the Blast Furnace and Coke Plant.

He is a member of the American Association of Retired People, the Odd Fellows Lodge of Zechariah, Ky., and Clark Lodge 943, F. and A. M. of Winchester, Ky.

Lions Briefed On Road Jobs

Highway developments and the proposed Chester Bridge were reviewed by Francis Lang for members of the Lions Club at the noon luncheon in the Travelers Hotel Friday.

Lang, local attorney, talked about the river-to-lake highway and estimated that the entire route would be completed and open for traffic within three years.

He also outlined developments on Route 7 and the new road bypassing Wellsville and Toronto.

Lang touched briefly on the need for a modern four-lane route to Vanport and Beaver, but predicted this would not be a reality for at least 10 years.

The report of the engineers on the three possible locations of a new bridge was explained.

Silent prayer was held by the group for Lion Harold Howard who died Thursday night.

A board of directors meeting will be held Monday night at the Salvation Army building.

Ike's Heart Under Strain

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's doctors say his ailing heart is under "considerable" strain from the pneumonia that has complicated his recovery from intestinal surgery.

"Considerable" was the one-word reply of his Army doctors when asked how much of a strain the pneumonia, which apparently developed Thursday night, is putting on the 78-year-old general's heart.

The doctors, however, in their late bulletin Friday at Walter Reed General Hospital, said "heart action is being constantly monitored and his cardiac status remained stable throughout the day."

Doctors also said the pneumonia was being "treated vigorously with appropriate antibiotics."

"Gen. Eisenhower's condition remains essentially unchanged. He is resting comfortably," they said.

Hammondsville District News

HAMMONDSVILLE — Among those called here by the death of Shannon Grafton were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gallagher and family of Connellsville, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson and son, Miss Mary Jo Malia and James Malia of Dickerson Run, Pa., Paul Grafton of Bowling Green, John Grafton of Cleveland and Rex Downer and daughter of Brook Park Village.

Lytton Named New President By Area Firemen

Gene Lytton of Newell was elected president of the Tri-State Firemen's Association during the fifth annual dinner meeting at the St. Anthony Club in Midland Thursday.

Others named include John Laitsch of Dixonville, vice president, Devine Banks of Glenmoor, secretary, and William Rogers of LaCroft, treasurer. Lytton received the past president's pin. Dan Orlando, Midland fireman, served as master of ceremonies. Some 85 attended the dinner served by the St. Anthony Auxiliary.

Talks Pushed For County 'COG' Plan

Representatives of Columbiana and Stark counties met Friday in the office of Mayor Dale Walborn at Alliance to discuss creating separate "Councils of Government" to cooperate in law enforcement.

One question was settled. An "action committee" will be composed of five representatives from each county.

Columbiana's committeemen will be the five men who have been in on "Council Of Government" talks from the beginning — Mayors George F. Willshaw of East Liverpool, Dean Cranmer of Salem and Dale Kampfer of Columbiana, County Commissioners Charles J. Gause and Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bellis. All attended the meeting yesterday with three representatives from Stark.

The Columbiana men advised the others that its by-laws committee Thursday night adopted by-laws prepared by the Ohio Urban Affairs Department.

"We seem to be ahead of Stark at this point," Gause reported today. "Although neither county can set up a COG until it has resolutions of cooperation from at least two municipal Councils."

He said the committees will meet again March 14 in Mayor Walborn's office and hope to have the necessary resolutions by that time.

Columbiana and Stark make up District 8, one of 15 Ohio districts in which the Urban Affairs Department will administer federal funds available under the "Safe Streets Act" of 1968.

District 8 ineligible for $16,036 for planning in the field of law enforcement. Additional federal funds would be available for approved programs with each COG participating financially or "in kind."

Plans Furthered By Midland Post For Anniversary

Midland American Legion Post 481 and auxiliary are advancing plans for an American Legion's 50th anniversary dinner April 12 at the post home.

Preparations for the event were made at a meeting of the committee in charge.

Mrs. Mary Belaney, auxiliary president, Mrs. Hilda Jones and Mrs. Stanley Surley represent the auxiliary at the meeting. Steve Crano, Post 481 president, and chairman Woodrow Pflugh, Pat Cody, Joseph Mulach, Morgan Taylor, Thomas Czerpak and Paul Rice are serving on the committee for the legion.

Crano said there will be a small charge for the dinner this year. Letters have been sent to all active members. In keeping with the 50th anniversary theme, tumblers, a banner and place mats will feature the legion emblem with the anniversary year.

All World War I veterans will be honored. Membership cards and jackets will be presented. The "Legionaire of the Year" will also be named.

The Auxiliary will purchase the food and supplies. The next committee meeting will be March 12 at 7 p.m. at the Legion home.

Reunion Planned By Midland Class

Plans are being made for the 25th reunion of the class of 1944 of Midland's Lincoln High School at the Willows Motel at Industry July 5.

Members of the committee planning the reunion include Sylvester Vranes, class president; Vincent D'Itri; Angelo Migliore; Marie (Plunkett) Cilli; Ruby (Taylor) Golding and Phyllis (Hammond) Dawson. They met Thursday at the Midland borough building.

Members of the class who wish to help or have addresses of class members who have moved out of town are asked to notify the committee. Questionnaires have been completed, and will be mailed out soon. The time and place of the next meeting will be announced.

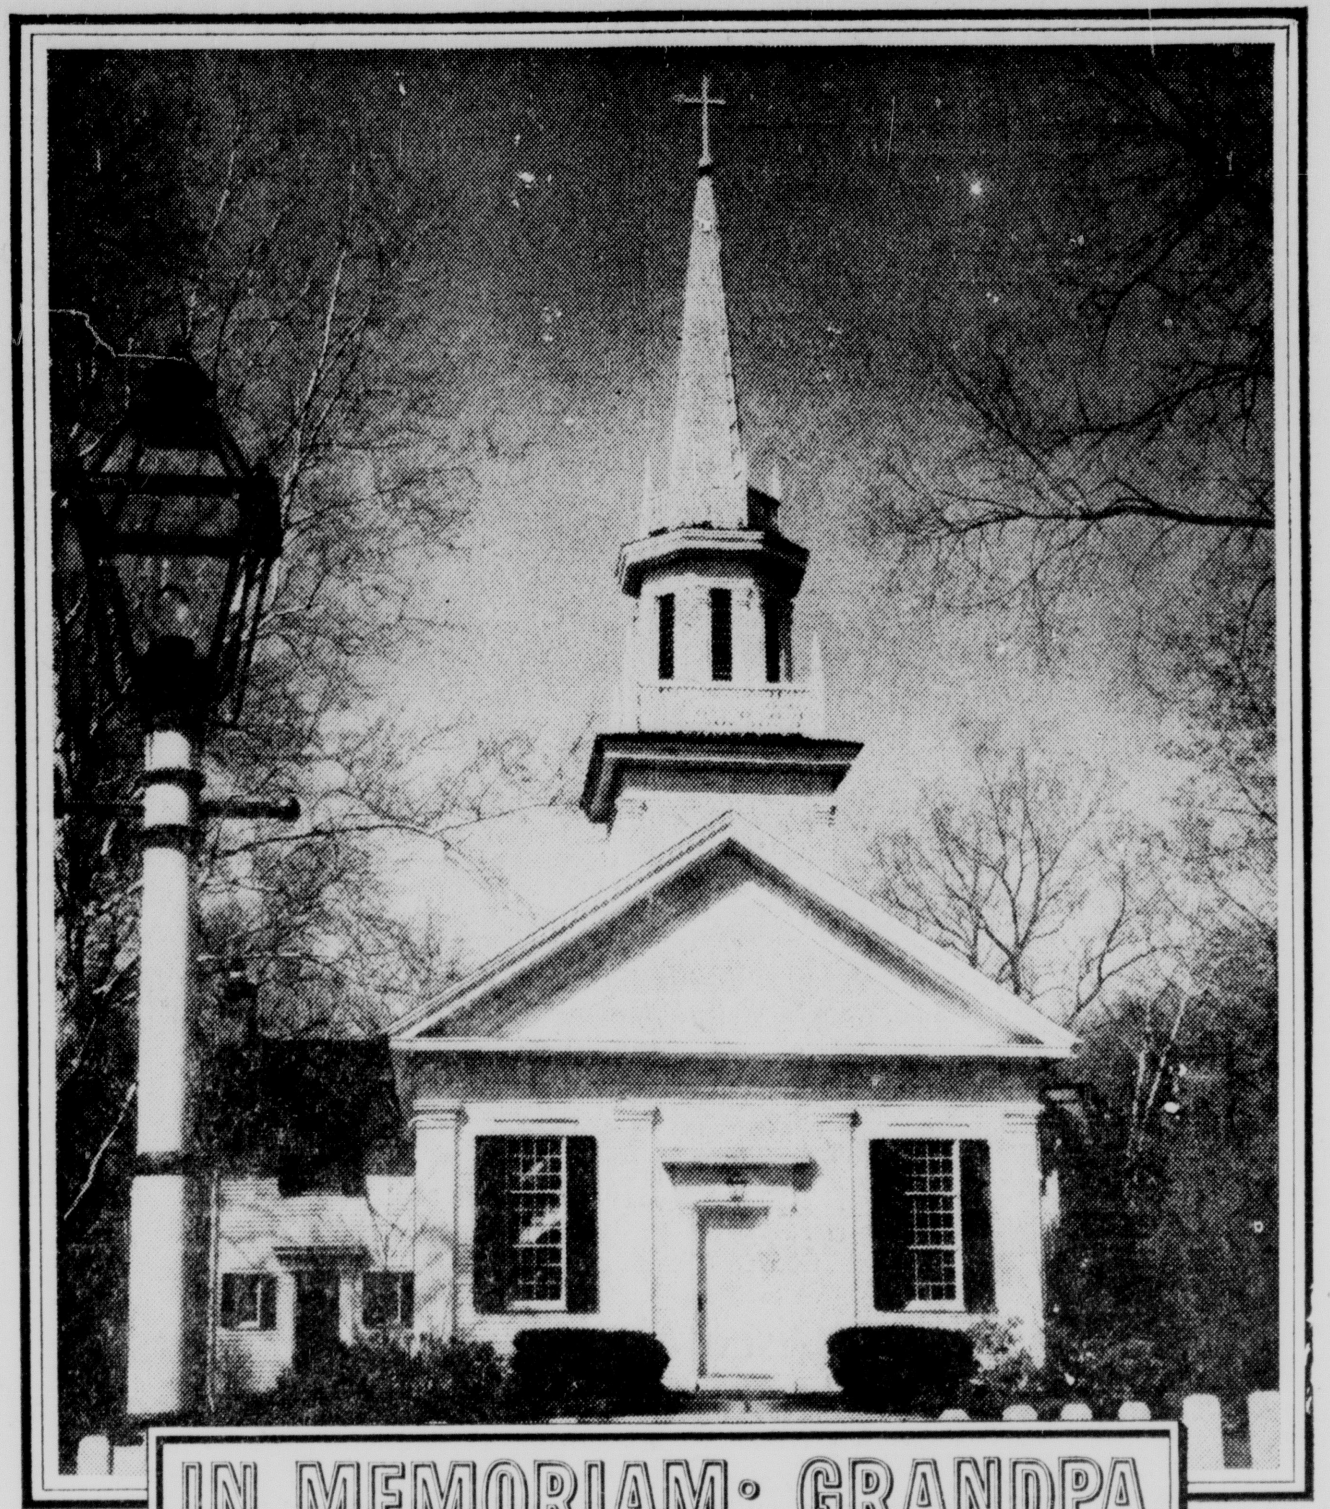

Crucible Plant Advances Three

Two East Liverpool men and a Midland man have been promoted at the Crucible Stainless Steel and Alloy Divisions of Colt Industries in Midland.

Frank S. Thornberry Jr., former crane man in the Hot Strip, has been promoted to turn foreman—No. 3 Conditioning. He joined Crucible in 1957 and has been employed in the Hot Strip Department since 1961.

Anthony J. Yanni, former millwright helper, Cold Strip, has been promoted to turn foreman—maintenance—Cold Strip, Rolling and Finishing. A 12-year veteran of Crucible, he also has worked in the Open Hearth and the Machine Shop. He has been a millwright helper the last six years.

Steve Vojnovich of Midland, former turn foreman, shipping department, 10-12-14-inch Finishing Mill, has been appointed assistant general foreman—finishing and shipping. A turn foreman since 1963, he has been employed at Crucible 17 years.

Grandpa called himself "a retired handy-man." But in those days lumber was cheap and labor wasn't. So when they said "we can't afford to build a church," Grandpa disagreed.

"Get me the boards and a few strong fellows to set the beams. I'll build your church," said Grandpa!

Before he finished, there were fifty men and lots of dollars to help him. You can see why they sent all the way to Boston for a piece of glass.

Grandpa is gone. Yet the Christian who is eager to put his faith into action is still able to share God's blessings with hundreds of his neighbors . . . and posterity as well!

Home Improvement Talks Set In Hancock County

Home Improvement workshops for Newell, Chester and New Cumberland have been set for Monday, Tuesday and Thursday of next week. Oliver Johnson of the West Virginia University extension office in Hancock County announced today.

The workshops are scheduled for Wells Junior High School at Newell on Monday, Chester Junior High on Tuesday and at the Hancock County Courthouse Annex in New Cumberland on Thursday. They will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The Newell program includes discussion of "A Good Home for All Who Care" by Reta Clegg, county extension agent; "Credit for Home Improvements" by Collin L. Neal, vice president of the First National Bank at East Liverpool, and "Heating and Cooling Systems" by Ray A. Shaw, a Weirton architect.

At Chester, Tuesday, Miss Clegg will discuss "Planning the Kitchen for Your Home" and Arthur Selders, agricultural engineer at WVU will talk on "Insulating the Home." Johnson will discuss "Making Outside Improvements."

During the Thursday meeting

Two Will Screen Candidates For Post Of Superintendent

LISBON — The Columbiana County board of education has engaged Dr. Robert E. Wilson and Dr. Glenn Maynard of Kent State University to screen and refer candidates for the position of superintendent of county schools.

The contract of James L. McBride, superintendent since 1950 and an educator for 42 years, will expire July 31.

Donald Rupert of New Waterford, board president, said Dr. Wilson is professor and chairman of the Department of Educational Administration at Kent and has served as consultant for many boards of education in Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware.

He also has been a special consultant for the U.S. Office of Education, the Ohio State Board of Education and the educational division of Peat, Arwick, Mitchell & Co., Washington, D.C.

Dr. Wilson has been a high school teacher and principal, was assistant superintendent in Canton and Elyria and superintendent of schools in Mansfield and Gambier. He was a professor at Ohio State University and Temple University, Philadelphia, before joining the KSU faculty.

Dr. Maynard, associate professor of educational administration at Kent, also has served as a consultant for many boards of education in Ohio. His teaching career began in northern Illinois, where he served as a teacher, elementary school principal and assistant superintendent of schools. Before joining the Kent faculty, he was a professor in the College of Education at the State University of New York at Oneonta. He is executive secretary of the Northeast Ohio School Boards Association.

Rupert said applicants should communicate directly with Dr. Maynard, P.O. Box 666, Kent, Ohio, 44240.

Honored guests will be Dale Allison, Evert Maki, George Laneve, Donald DeLong, Charles W. Morris, Robert House, Charles Huffman and Robert Sowers.

Women of the 8 and 40 will serve dinner upon completion of the wreck.

Appeal Planned By Liquor Board On Club License

The Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board has moved to appeal a ruling by Beaver County Judge Ralph Scalera in support of a liquor license for the Crucible Management Club in Industry.

Judge Scalera Feb. 17 issued an order overruling the liquor board's 1967 refusal to grant a permit for the club on the basis the borough's permit quota would be exceeded.

The club was seeking a special license on the grounds it was a resort and recreation operation. The liquor board has decided to appeal the Judge's ruling to the Superior Court, and has ordered all records forwarded to its prothonotary.

Hancock 40 & 8 To Honor Moore In Sunday Event

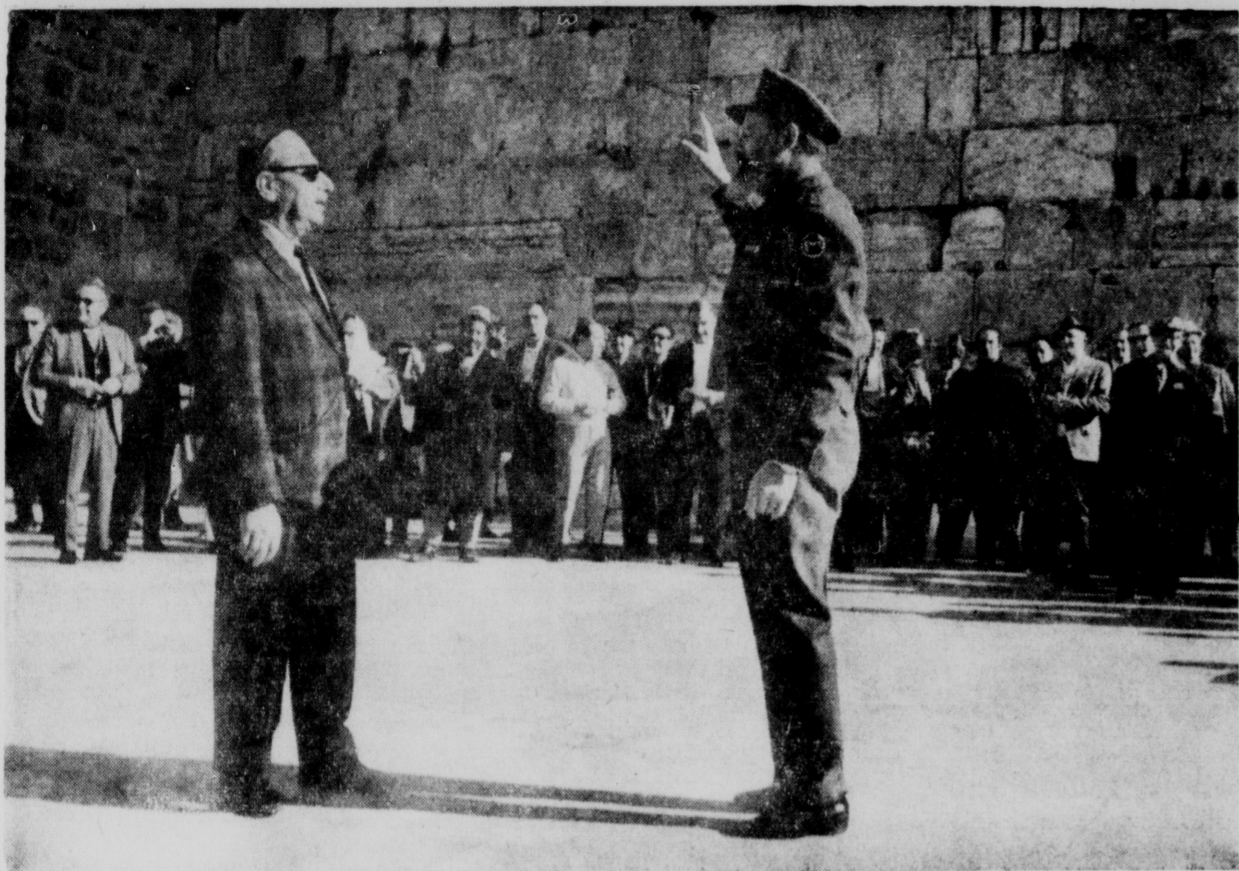

Hancock County Voiture 1459 of the 40 and 8 Society will honor Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. Sunday afternoon with a "wreck" at the Crestler American Legion Post on Carolina Ave. The event is scheduled for 1 p.m.

A class of 30 PGs will honor West Virginia's governor, who has been a member of the Hancock County society for 15 years.

The Stark County Voiture 10 of Canton "wrecking crew," under the direction of Bob Harris, will perform. The team has gained recognition throughout Ohio and Midwest during the past decade.

Chef de Gare Vito H. Catenaro of Voiture 1459 announced committee appointments.

They are: Mike Sweeney, chairman; John Merriman, Joseph Fuller and Emmet Brewer, wreck crew; Harry Hall, doctor's aide; Josiah Wedgewood, Dwight Allison, Sweeney and Wayne Pallard, registration; Glenn Cordray, John Fred Morris and Harold Dickey, pro-

City Residents Discover New Nation Fears Defense Burden More Than Threats By Arabs

ISRAELI LEADERS ARE less concerned about the threat of attack from Arab neighbors than they are about the economic burdens placed upon the young nation in keeping its strong defense posture.

That's the picture of Israel today brought back by four East Liverpool residents who recently visited the Mid-East as guests of the Tel Aviv government.

Dr. Alexander Fisher, Mike Turk, Harry Barlow and Mrs. Barry Berman were taken on six-day tours of the country, viewing the Suez canal area captured in the June 1967 war, immigration schools, holy sites and the "hot line" area subject to continuing attacks by Arab guerrillas.

Small children are placed in the shelters nightly rather than run the risk of a surprise attack.

The farmers work the fields after morning inspections for mines, and at night take turns guarding the perimeter of the settlement.

The fifth day featured a visit to the Golan Heights, formerly in Syria, which remains a key issue in the international situation between Israel and the Arab nations.

Dr. Fisher said the care of newly-arrived aged residents poses a serious problem for the nation. He toured a home for the aged where a top leader said at least 5,000 beds are needed at present in Israel, and in increasing number as the population grows older.

The activities at an Hadassah Youth Aliyah village which had 250 girls and boys from all over the world impressed Mrs. Berman.

Most of the young people have parents in Israel, but have had family difficulties or are deprived in such a way that they need special rehabilitation aid. A new atmosphere and programs in handicraft and basic education assist the young people successfully in 80 per cent of the cases.

Mrs. Berman reports her daughter, Hope, 13, has begun corresponding with the two girls in the photograph with her. "They were so excited to know my daughter can write Hebrew, and were anxious to write her in English."

Mrs. Berman also referred to the intense spirit shown by the women and the men in the military camps, a pride in their country and in their service. "We know what we are fighting for," she was told.

The need for security measures in the towns and even about the schools to protect the children from attacks was evident throughout the country, she added.

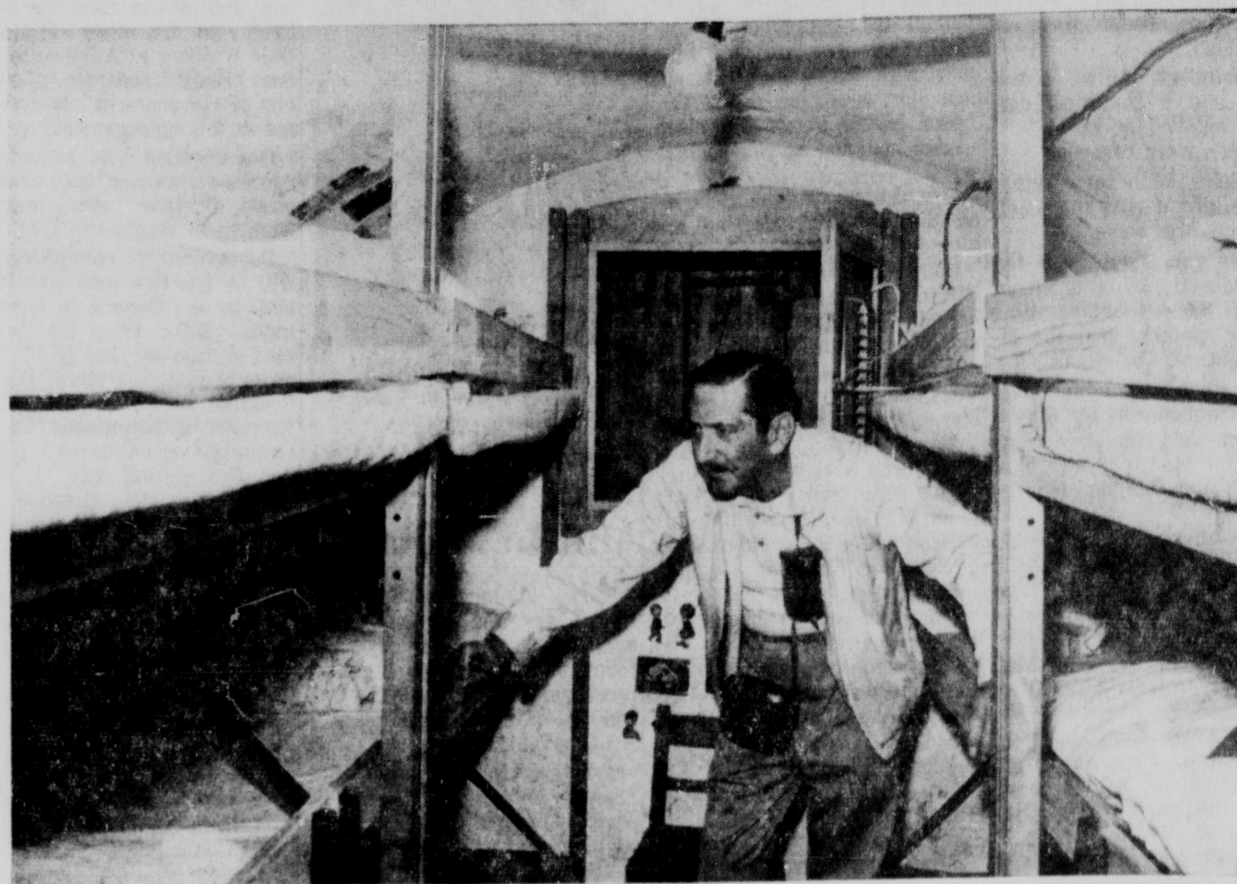

Mrs. Berman and the 80 other women in her group found a new bond of unity after the tour was ended, and many began correspondence. "We left the U.S. as a mission, and returned as friends."

BARLOW COMMENTED on another special problem of the new country — educating and orienting the many younger immigrants who arrive steadily to begin a new life.

At special centers, they are taught to read and write Hebrew and prepared for adjustment to an existence which is contrast to that from which they came.

All four of the visitors expressed their confidence in the future of Israel, despite the economic and military problems which face the people.

The need for help from other free nations is apparent, they stated, but the future remains assured for the nation which has made tremendous strides in industrial and agricultural development and has successfully defended itself from hostile neighbors since its creation. "Israel is the democracy of the Middle East. To help maintain the freedom of this nation would strengthen the entire free world. Americans have this obligation in this respect that Israel and the United States have a common bond," they concluded.

SUN TAN RESCHEDULE — Sun tan and antison tan preparations slow down their release dates for summer advertising. Magazines, newspapers and billboard ads being brought into closer proximity to actual "use" date, particularly for teens. In past, ad pattern has followed the on-sale dates of swim wear. Not realistic. Swimsuit manufacturers haven't been able to crack merchandising schedules that call for "sales" in July... weeks before the actual peak of use. Look for sun preparation ads to appear in May, June and July instead of March, April and May. Don't, however wait too long to buy your swimsuit. Generations have learned that most retail stores are through with selling swimsuits by mid-July. A pity!

INSTRUMENT MANUFACTURERS cool it with rocker pushers: Major producers of musical instruments have slowed down their pell mell rush for endorsement of their wares by rock groups. New get-tough attitude is the result of irresponsible actions on the part of many of those signed to contracts.

Ruined instruments "on loan" endorsement deals with more than one manufacturer and the "busted" image have chilled the manufacturers to anything but tested and true groups. The money savings on equipment "deals" can benefit by as much as 10 to 30 grand a year. The entertainment industry is big business and not a game. It has been expensive "tuition" for the majority of today's rockers to learn that business performance is a responsibility that should match musical performance if success is to be maximized to both areas.

MAN OR MOUSE? — Ten million mice are used yearly in drug studies. The life span of diabetic types, those with Hodgkins disease, mammary tumors and muscular dystrophy are all being documented. There are also obese mice and hairless mice under observation. Today's generation will owe a large debt to the Mickeys and Minnies of research.

PRESCRIPTION FORGERY CRACKDOWN—Drug abuse controls zeroing in on fraud and forgery. Pharmacists are being alerted to call the prescribing physician. Stolen or forged prescription blanks plus forged prescriptions insignia and doctor's signatures are a thriving business. Some states considering a reward incentive for pharmacists who detect fraud, delay the criminal or identify him (or her) sufficiently for arrest. Prescription prices for barbituates may be high, but the resale is at least triple. The crackdown carries stiff jail sentences on at least four different charges with sentences of up to 25 years.

UNISEX HAS SOME PEOPLE SICK — He-she shoes, he-she shirts, he-she hip huggers, he-she sweaters, he-she vests. Many stores are opening men's dressing rooms in women's junior departments and vice versa. "Communal buying," notes one department store president is a path to note and ride! Who is driving?

Outdoor Notes

IT'S GETTING NEAR that time of the year again when all the ardent anglers will be digging their equipment out of the closet or basement corner to get it ready for the approaching fishing season.

During the annual clean-up, make sure you don't forget one of the most important things — your tackle box.

A well-stocked and well-kept tackle box is every bit as important to the angler as a nicely-appointed home is to his wife. Both keep the individual happy and more successful in doing what they set out to do.

A good tackle box is the angler's suitcase, and although he will replace small items from time to time there are essentials that he will need wherever he is fishing.

A well-stocked box will carry many items other than plugs and extra hooks. It should have a place for a pair of sunglasses, a real eye-saver on days when the sun is glinting off the water.

An unbreakable tube of suntan oil should be included, for those days when no shade can be found and yet the fisherman wants to stay out and keep catching fish. Also an unbreakable container of mosquito repellent can be invaluable when the little pesky ones get rough.

Another small item that we hope never to use but still carry for insurance is a snake bite kit. A bite from a poisonous snake is almost as rare as elephantitis, but it pays to be prepared.

A small pocket compass is an item that will take up little space in the tackle box, but can be a life saver when it is needed. If possible get one with a lid on it, the lid will protect the compass cover and dial from injury.

Most anglers include a pair of long-nosed pliers in their box, as handy as a pocket in a shirt when it comes to getting a hook out of a fish's mouth. Choose a pair with side cutters on them, so if the occasion arises you could cut off a hook, were one imbedded in someone's epidermis. A light plastic raincoat will fit in most boxes, and can save a day ruined by rain.

Oh, yes, carry some lures, too. You might get do to some fishing.

OF COURSE fishermen have their favorite secluded spots, whether it be in the middle of the Gulf of Mexico or hidden deep in the forest near a small quiet pond.

Contrary to beliefs held by many fishermen, there is also good fishing at the resorts. If you will just take a look around you will see there isn't much to the saying used by some fishermen, "A resort lake isn't worth a hoot for fishing."

This belief is held by many fishermen who shun waters lined by cottages and commercial establishments, and used for boating, water skiing and swimming. They seem to consider these lakes as fishless as bath tubs, and, in so doing, spend more time driving than fishing.

In most cases the fish are as numerous and as large as they were in the days when all fishing was done with a cane pole and gob of worms. Except for instances where pollution or physical changes have made the aquatic environment intolerable, game fish may still be caught by fishermen who know how.

Since bass, in particular, are nocturnal feeders, nighttime is always best. Even the most heavily used lake is relatively deserted and lonely at night.

Where to fish is often a surprise. Some of the best spots are around docks which bustle with activity during the day. Minnows thrive around pilings, attracting large fish when things on the surface calm down.

The "how" and "with what" are no different than they'd be at the remotest lake, say the Mercury lads. It's simply the attitude of the anglers that's different.

Civilization seems to affect fishermen more than fish... yet, for fishermen who know the score, the catching isn't any different.

The Ohio Department of Natural Resources has announced that there is a limited time left to order trees for spring planting. Trees will be delivered in this area April 2.

For truck delivery, orders must be received seven days prior to delivery. After that time all trees will be sent by parcel post or can be picked up at the nurseries.

The trees are small seedlings up to one foot tall and are to be planted in a 7' x 7' or 8' x 8' block arrangement. The cost is $14 a thousand and the minimum order is 500 trees which will plant approximately 3/4 of an acre. White pine, on most sites, is an ideal tree for planting on open land.

A list of the available trees and an order blank can be obtained from the County Extension Agent, the Soil Conservation Service, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, and the Ohio Division of Forestry & Reclamation.

Today there are about 400,000 trademarks registered in the United States Patent Office, with an average of 20,000 marks registered annually. This total does not include such marks registered in the 50 states for use in that state.

A trademark has three functions: It distinguishes the product from those of competitors, it serves as a guarantee of consistency of quality and it helps to advertise and sell the product.

THERE ARE four types of trademarks. These include: Trademarks which identify goods, service marks used in the sale or advertisement of services, collective marks used by members of a cooperative, association or similar group to identify the goods or services of their group and certification marks which indicate certain goods or services have been certified by an agency as to material, method of manufacture, accuracy or characteristics.

The trademark is important to its holder. It creates a presumption of ownership and exclusive right to use and may eventually represent conclusive evidence of the right to exclusive use.

THE TRADEMARK is good for 20 years, and can be renewed indefinitely if it is used and properly protected.

Not all marks can be used as a trademark under the rules of the U. S. Patent Office. Restrictions against registration include: Immoral, deceptive, or scandalous matter; matter that may disparage or falsely suggest a connection with a person, institution, beliefs, or national symbols; the flag or coat of arms of the United States, any state, municipality, or foreign nation; the name of a living person without his consent, and the name of a dead President of the United States within the life time of his widow without her written consent.

A Million Dollar Success Story

Mrs. Celia Potts of Ojai, Calif., former Newell resident who has made a career out of real estate, reads to her children, left to right, Alice, 15, Debbie, 10, Beth, 13, and Michael, 11.

"California was the golden opportunity," said Mrs. Celia Potts of Ojai, Calif., a former resident of Newell who has reportedly netted a million dollars from business dealings in real estate.

The family moved from Newell nearly six years ago when her husband, George Potts, nearly lost a limb in an auto accident. His mother, Mrs. Laura Potts, resides at 1st St., Newell.

They shunned the advice of a California lawyer to declare bankruptcy and get a fresh start, and instead bought a small house on Pierpont Beach with $25 down and a six-month option. Expansion from the lone investment into progressive successes in Ventura County real estate followed.

She and her husband inspect property and plan their purchases carefully. "I seemed to be able to look at a plot of land and visualize what could be done with it—I could actually see a future filling station on the corner, for instance. Then I would set about to bring the vision into reality," Mrs. Potts said.

"When I was 8-years-old, I said to my father, 'I am going to be a millionaire.' I believed it, I think faith in God and yourself can work wonders," she states.

As her spectacular earnings mounted, she was asked if she hadn't had doubts. She replied that if she had had qualms she simply got rid of them by telling herself, "Celia, all you have to lose is that $25!"

For a family which came close to walking the road from "rags to riches," the Potts family hasn't changed. Mrs. Potts said. They reside in a bungalow farm house in Ojai.

She has set her sights on the real thing — money in the hand, she said. "It's all right to be a millionaire, but it's all tied up in real estate. Now I'd like a real million, in cash!"

A trademark has three functions: It distinguishes the product from those of competitors, it serves as a guarantee of consistency of quality and it helps to advertise and sell the product.

THERE ARE four types of trademarks. These include: Trademarks which identify goods, service marks used in the sale or advertisement of services, collective marks used by members of a cooperative, association or similar group to identify the goods or services of their group and certification marks which indicate certain goods or services have been certified by an agency as to material, method of manufacture, accuracy or characteristics.

The trademark is important to its holder. It creates a presumption of ownership and exclusive right to use and may eventually represent conclusive evidence of the right to exclusive use.

THE TRADEMARK is good for 20 years, and can be renewed indefinitely if it is used and properly protected.

Not all marks can be used as a trademark under the rules of the U. S. Patent Office. Restrictions against registration include: 1. moral, deceptive, or scandalous matter; matter that may disparage or falsely suggest a connection with a person, institution, beliefs, or national symbols; the flag or coat of arms of the United States, any state, municipality, or foreign nation; the name of a living person without his consent, and the name of a dead President of the United States within the life time of his widow without her written consent.

A Million Dollar Success Story

Mrs. Celia Potts of Ojai, Calif., former Newell resident who has made a career out of real estate, reads to her children, left to right, Alice, 15, Debbie, 10, Beth, 13, and Michael, 11.

"California was the golden opportunity," said Mrs. Celia Potts of Ojai, Calif., a former resident of Newell who has reportedly netted a million dollars from business dealings in real estate.

The family moved from Newell nearly six years ago when her husband, George Potts, nearly lost a limb in an auto accident. His mother, Mrs. Laura Potts, resides at 1st St., Newell.

They shunned the advice of a California lawyer to declare bankruptcy and get a fresh start, and instead bought a small house on Pierpont Beach with $25 down and a six-month option. Expansion from the lone investment into progressive successes in Ventura County real estate followed.

She and her husband inspect property and plan their purchases carefully. "I seemed to be able to look at a plot of land and visualize what could be done with it—I could actually see a future filing station on the corner, for instance. Then I would set about to bring the vision into reality," Mrs. Potts said.

"When I was 8-years-old, I said to my father, 'I am going to be a millionaire.' I believed it, I think faith in God and yourself can work wonders," she states.

As her spectacular earnings mounted, she was asked if she hadn't had doubts. She replied that if she had had qualms she simply got rid of them by telling herself, "Celia, all you have to lose is that $25!"

For a family which came close to walking the road from "rags to riches," the Potts family hasn't changed, Mrs. Potts said. They reside in a bungalow farm house in Ojai.

She has set her sights on the real thing — money in the hand, she said. "It's all right to be a millionaire, but it's all tied up in real estate. Now I'd like a real million, in cash!"

Mt. Lebanon Uses Foul Line To Eliminate Midland 64-53

Three Leopards Exit On 5 Fouls

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

The WPIAL Tournament trail ended abruptly for Midland Friday night, as the Leopards were eliminated by a tall Mt. Lebanon team 64-53 at the Pitt Field House.

The Leopards jumped off to an early lead as Mt. Lebanon was cold, but the Blue Devils warmed up and made good use of frequent trips to the foul line to clinch the verdict.

Three Midland starters—Howard (Cap) Leak, George Green and Frank Johnson—fouled out, and Green was in foul trouble the whole game, ending with only four points. He got his third foul early in the second period, picked up his fourth early in the third period and finally left the game in the late stages.

From the second period on, Mt. Lebanon used a front line of Dave Terek, Ellis Amdur and Steve Viviano, all 6-3 or over, and without Green, Midland was in trouble on the boards. Dave Franitti filled in ably, collecting 8 points and eight rebounds, but lapsed on defense on a few occasions.

Leak led the Leopards with 12 points and Greg Vanlier added 10. John Bates, who hit a cool 10 of 11 from the foul line, and Viviano, who was 10 of 15 from the charity stripe, led Mt. Lebanon with 20 and 16 respectively. Terek chipped in with 10. The Blue Devils ended with 26 of 35 free throws comprised to 9 of 12 for Midland.

The rebounding ended up even at 46. Green led Midland with 10, while Viviano had 13 and Terek 10 for the winners. Midland was hurt by 16 turnovers, while Mt. Lebanon committed 14. In the second and fourth quarters, when the Mounties were dominant, they made 5 to 13 by Midland, while the Leopards committed only 3 to 10 by the Lebos in the first and third periods, the good ones for the Leopards.

Midland hit 8 of 14 shots the first period, but cooled off and ended the game with 32 per cent. Mt. Lebanon was 2 of 12 the first period and 24 per cent the first half, but hit 43 per cent the second half and ended the game with 36 per cent.

With everyone hitting, the Leopards rolled to a 17-7 margin, but it was down to 17-11 at the quarter and by halftime the Lebos, using a half-court press to good advantage, took a 24-21 lead, outscoring Midland 17-4. There was only one foul called on Mt. Lebanon the first half, compared to 10 on Midland.

In the third period Midland

went to a full-court press, and forced numerous Mt. Lebanon turnovers. The lead changed hands 10 times in this period, with ties at 33, 37 and 39. Midland led for the last time at 37-35 on a foul by Johnson. Amdur tied the score with a drive, and a jumper by Rex Bennett, who teamed with Bates to give the Blue Devils an outside threat, put Mt. Lebanon up 39-37. Leak hit a jumper to tie the score, but with 8 seconds left Viviano made a hook to give the winners the lead for good. Viviano was fouled on the shot, missed, but got the rebound and was fouled again, making two shots to set the score at 43-39 going into the final period.

A pair of fouls by Leak and a basket by Franitti, against a foul by Terek, made it 44-43 with 6:45 left in the game, but Noel Opperman scored on a fast-break and Bates made four straight fouls. Mt. Lebanon went on an 18-4 spurt before Midland came back a little at the end.

The Mounties are now 20-3 and meet Penn Hills in a quarterfinal game Tuesday at the Civic Arena. Midland bows out at 19-4.

Avonworth came from behind to nip Mohawk 59-57 in a Class B game in the opener as 6-5 sophomore Dan Bonner had 18 points, about that many rebounds and eight blocked shots.

Obcrlin Five Meets B-W In Title Battle

By The Associated Press

Oberlin is playing giant-killer in the Ohio Conference division basketball tournaments.

The spunky Yeoman, who finished deep in the conference standings, edged Wooster 60-58 Friday night in the Northern Division playoffs at Wooster.

The victory put Oberlin in the division title game tonight against Baldwin-Wallace, which beat Heidelberg 73-66 in overtime in the first game Friday night.

Meanwhile, in the Southern Division tournament at Granville, Wittenberg, who tied Baldwin-Wallace for first place in the standings, and Capital, who finished second, moved up to tonight's finals by posting victories Friday night.

Capital rapped Muskingum 74-63, while Wittenberg defeated Denison 71-65.

Oberlin won its tight contest with Wooster on Earl Singleton's jump shot with eight seconds left to play. The triumph evened the Yeomen's over-all season record to 10-10.

Baldwin-Wallace outscored Heidelberg 11-4 in the overtime period for its victory. Regulation time had expired with the score 62-62.

Capital, behind by nine points at halftime, closed the gap and then froze the ball for he last five minutes of play in moving past Muskingum.

Wittenberg mounted a 15-point lead, and Denison's late rally wasn't enough to overcome the lead. Denison move to within two points of the lead with 1:25 left, but Wittenberg regained the initiative and moved out ahead again.

In other Ohio college basketball action Friday night, Walsh beat Clarion State 91-85 and Wilberforce topped Penta Tech 83-69.

Ursuline Gains Title, Tops Bulldogs, 60-51

YOUNGSTOWN — East Palestine's gallant comeback in the second half fell short and Youngstown Ursuline claimed a 60-51 victory and the Sectional AA title Friday night at South High Fieldhouse.

The victory sends Ursuline in to next week's District tournament.

East Palestine, which reached the sectional finals for the first time since 1954, jumped out to a 13-5 lead in the first period but Ursuline installed a full-court press and came back within one point, 15-14, at the end of the first quarter.

East Palestine turned in a poor second period when Ursuline outscored the Bulldogs, 20-9.

Trailing 45-37 entering the final period, East Palestine bounced back and cut the margin to 51-49 with two minutes remaining before Ursuline went to the foul line to preserve the victory.

John Kane dropped in 19 points to lead Ursuline while Joe Lewis scored 18 for the Bulldogs.

Ursuline shot 50 per cent from the field while East Palestine hit 41 per cent of its shots.

Will Take Non-Playing Job

Mantle Expected To Hang 'Em Up

By MIKE BRYSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mickey Mantle is expected to disclose his future plans today and there is speculation the veteran New York Yankee slugger will announce he's calling it quits after 18 seasons to accept a non-playing post with the Yankees.

The 37-year-old belter, famed for his tape-measure homers, is scheduled to report sometime today to New York's training camp at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and discuss his future with club officials.

There have been numerous reports since the close of last season that the soft-spoken superstar is considering retirement, but Mantle has refused to confirm or deny them.

However, Mantle and the Yankees reportedly worked out an informal agreement sometime ago that he would be given a post with the team when he decided to end his playing career.

While the Yankees are faced with a potential permanent holdout, the Houston Astros were still reeling today over one that became a surprising reality Friday.

Donn Clendenon, property of three different teams in six months who wound up with the Astros in a controversial deal, informed the team he isn't interested in playing for anyone.

Instead, he said, he's taking a position as vice president of an Atlanta firm for which he has worked in the off-season and will help Negro players obtain jobs after their careers end.

Meanwhile, the holdout list grew shorter, but Washington's big Frank Howard and St. Louis' Bob Gibson head a list of notables still unsigned.

Howard, the American League's top homer producer last year, flew back to Green Bay, Wis., after an unsuccessful contract talk with Bob Short, new owner of the Senators.

Howard reportedly is seeking a three-year contract at $100,000 a year, but Short is opposed to long-term pacts.

The Cardinals not only have 2.

Denison Holds Lead In Wrestling Meet

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Defending champion Denison took a two-point lead over Wittenberg, Ohio Wesleyan and Baldwin-Wallace Friday night in the first round of the Ohio Conference wrestling championships.

Denison scored 15 points and placed eight wrestlers in the semi-finals. The other three teams each scored 13 points. Ohio Wesleyan qualified seven men, Baldwin-Wallace five and Wittenberg four.

The tournament ends Saturday night. Other team scores at the end of the first round: Wooster 11, Heidelberg 10, Muskingum, Hiram and Capital 7.

Oberlin 4, Marietta and Mount Union 3, Otterbein and Kenyon

In Steubenville Sectional

Third Straight Title Eyed By Potter Cagers

East Liverpool will be out to win its third straight AA sectional basketball title tonight at the Steubenville Diocesan Arena at 8 p. m.

The Potters meet a Steubenville Big Red team that is vastly improved since East Liverpool won 64-39 here earlier this season. Kenny Allen, ineligible at that time, has returned to add firepower to the Big Red attack. Allen, 6-3, along with 6-3 Ted Freeman and 6-4 Ross Mike, gives Steubenville a tall, solid front line. In addition, Big Red has an outstanding guard in Gary Repella, 6-0, who seems to have cured his habit of turning the ball over on every play.

Clarence Bennett is the fifth starter, and Coach Chuck Watt has good depth, with Charlie Wise and Jeff Spahn top back-court replacements and Mike Radakovich and Steve Malbasa able to bolster the front line. Steubenville is 9-10, having downed Wintersville and Steubenville Central in tournament play to get to the finals. East Liverpool is 18-1 after an easy win over Jefferson Union in the tourney.

The Potters are expected to start Jerry Christian, Bill Montgomery, Dan Cunningham, John Johnson and Rick Steffen. Christian has averaged 34 points a game the past three games, but will be hard pressed to match that figure against the tall Big Red, and the Potters will need outside firepower from the rest of the team to advance to the district tournament in Steubenville next week.

In one other area game tonight Lisbon meets North Lima for the championship of one of the Struthers Class A sectionals. The Blue Devils are 10-10 with two tourney wins. North Lima is 14-5 and whipped Columbiana in the tournament opener. Bill McMeans, 6-6, was sick against Columbiana, but he is usually the Zipper's leading pointmaker. Jim Courtney leads Gary Pike's Lisbon team, backed by Jim Taylor, Lee Smith and Roger James. Dave McCamon has missed the last two games due to an ankle injury and is a doubtful starter tonight. Francis Gardner will take McCamon's spot if he is unable to play.

Seagren Tries 18-Foot Barrier Again At Philly

By TOM SALADINO

Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Olympic champion Bob Seagren is running out of chances to crack the 18-foot pole vault barrier as the indoor season nears its close tonight with the 81st National AAU Indoor Track and Field Championships.

Other Olympic winners assembled among the more than 400 athletes for this meet at the Spectrum are Willie Davenport, Bob Beamon and Madeline Manning.

More than 30 of the outstanding performers on the 11-lap track, which has been borrowed from Baltimore, will be rewarded with tours which include Europe, the West Indies and Japan later this month to compete against other foreign nations.

Seagren, of the Southern California Striders who holds both the indoor and outdoor world records for his specialty at 17 feet, 6 inches and 17-9, has a simple philosophy:

"The more I compete, the more chances I have to reach 18 feet."

Seagren has entered 12 meets this indoor season, inching closer to his goal with two world-shattering performances, but time is running out with only the NCAA championships remaining after tonight.

Davenport will be gunning for his 15th straight hurdles victory. The Baton Rouge, La., speedster will be going in the 60-yard high hurdles against the 2-4 finishers at the Mexico City Games—Erv Hall of Villanova and Leon Coleman of the Southern California Striders.

Hall has been successful except when he faces the fleet Davenport, and the Wildcats ace admits, "I'd have to concede that Willie's probably the best indoors."

Another of the world's best indoors is George Young, the Casa Grande, Ariz., school-teacher who hasn't lost on the boards in two years and has a string of 17 triumphs.

The 31-year-old Young, who has announced he will quit the sport after tonight's race, will be going in the three-mile run. Only last week at San Diego he tied the world standard for the two-mile at 8:27.2.

Beamon, the world's best in the long jump, will be favored to capture that title if his injured leg, which has bothered him throughout the indoor season, is mended. If not, Ralph Boston and Phil Shinnick of the Southern California Striders could take the honors.

Miss Manning, the women's 800-meter champion at the Olympics, is expected to handle the field in tonight's 880-yard run while a flock of other Olympians will aim for more glory.

Ohio U. Wrestlers Lead In Tournament

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Surprising Ohio University holds a six-point lead over favored Toledo going into the championship round today of the Mid-American Conference wrestling tournament.

The Bobcats, rated at best as a dark horse prior to the tourney, rolled up 63 points in the opening two rounds.

Following the Bobcats are Toledo with 57, Kent State 47, Western Michigan 37, defending champion Miami 35, Bowling Green 23 and Marshall, scoreless.

Mt. Lebanon Uses Foul Line To Eliminate Midland 64-53

Three Leopards Exit On 5 Fouls

The rebounding ended up even at 46. Green led Midland with 10, while Viviano had 13 and Terek 10 for the winners. Midland was hurt by 16 turnovers, while Mt. Lebanon committed 14. In the second and fourth quarters, when the Mounties were dominant, they made 5 to 13 by Midland, while the Leopards committed only 3 to 10 by the Lebos in the first and third periods, the good ones for the Leopards.

Midland hit 8 of 14 shots the first period, but cooled off and ended the game with 32 per cent. Mt. Lebanon was 2 of 12 the first period and 24 per cent the second half and ended the game with 36 per cent.

With everyone hitting, the Leopards rolled to a 17-7 margin, but it was down to 17-11 at the quarter and by halftime the Lebos, using a half-court press to good advantage, took a 24-21 lead, outscoring Midland 17-4. There was only one foul called on Mt. Lebanon the first half, compared to 10 on Midland.

In the third period Midland

went to a full-court press, and forced numerous Mt. Lebanon turnovers. The lead changed hands 10 times in this period, with ties at 33, 37 and 39. Midland led for the last time at 37-35 on a foul by Johnson. Amdur tied the score with a drive, and a jumper by Rex Bennett, who teamed with Bates to give the Blue Devils an outside threat, put Mt. Lebanon up 39-37. Leak hit a jumper to tie the score, but with 8 seconds left Viviano made a hook to give the winners the lead for good. Viviano was fouled on the shot, missed, but got the rebound and was fouled again, making two shots to set the score at 43-39 going into the final period.

A pair of fouls by Leak and a basket by Franitti, against a foul by Terek, made it 44-43 with 6:45 left in the game, but Noel Opperman scored on a fast-break and Bates made four straight fouls. Mt. Lebanon went on an 18-4 spurt before Midland came back a little at the end.

The Mounties are now 20-3 and meet Penn Hills in a quarterfinal game Tuesday at the Civic Arena. Midland bows out at 19-4.

Avonworth came from behind to nip Mohawk 59-57 in a Class B game in the opener as 6-5 sophomore Dan Bonner had 18 points, about that many rebounds and eight blocked shots.

Oberlin Five Meets B-W In Title Battle

By The Associated Press

Oberlin is playing giant-killer in the Ohio Conference division basketball tournaments.

The spunky Yeoman, who finished deep in the conference standings, edged Wooster 60-58 Friday night in the Northern Division playoffs at Wooster.

The victory put Oberlin in the division title game tonight against Baldwin-Wallace, which beat Heidelberg 73-66 in overtime in the first game Friday night.

Meanwhile, in the Southern Division tournament at Grandville, Wittenberg, who tied Baldwin-Wallace for first place in the standings, and Capital, who finished second, moved up to tonight's finals by posting victories Friday night.

Capital rapped Muskingum 74-63, while Wittenberg defeated Denison 71-65.

Oberlin won its tight contest with Wooster on Earl Singleton's jump shot with eight seconds left to play. The triumph evened the Yeomen's over-all season record to 10-10.

Baldwin-Wallace outscored Heidelberg 11-4 in the overtime period for its victory. Regulation time had expired with the score 62-62.

Capital, behind by nine points at halftime, closed the gap and then froze the ball for he last five minutes of play in moving past Muskingum.

Wittenberg mounted a 15-point lead, and Denison's late rally wasn't enough to overcome the lead. Denison move to within two points of the lead with 1:25 left, but Wittenberg regained the initiative and moved out ahead again.

In other Ohio college basketball action Friday night, Walsh beat Clarion State 91-85 and Wilberforce topped Penta Tech 83-69.

Ursuline Gains Title, Tops Bulldogs, 60-51

YOUNGSTOWN — East Palestine's gallant comeback in the second half fell short and Youngstown Ursuline claimed a 60-51 victory and the Sectional AA title Friday night at South High Fieldhouse.

The victory sends Ursuline into next week's District tournament.

East Palestine, which reached the sectional finals for the first time since 1954, jumped out to a 13-5 lead in the first period but Ursuline installed a full-court press and came back with one point, 15-14, at the end of the first quarter.

East Palestine turned in a poor second period when Ursuline outscored the Bulldogs, 20-9.

Trailing 45-37 entering the final period, East Palestine bounced back and cut the margin to 51-49 with two minutes remaining before Ursuline went to the foul line to preserve the victory.

John Kane dropped in 19 points to lead Ursuline while Joe Lewis scored 18 for the Bulldogs.

Ursuline shot 50 per cent from the field while East Palestine hit on 41 per cent of its shots.

Boosters Set Tournament At S. Side Tonight

The South Side Athletic Boosters Club will sponsor a tournament tonight in two divisions for grades 6-8 and 9-11 at the high school gym.

In the first game at 5 South Side meets West Allegheny in the 6-8 grade group and Coraopolis plays Center at 6. In the older division, Coraopolis meets Northwestern at 7, and South Side faces Quigley at 8:30.

The winners will meet for the titles Tuesday night with the 6-8 graders playing at 5 and the 9-11 at 6:30.

Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. the South Side Faculty will meet the Oak Glen faculty in a benefit game. All proceeds from Tuesday's Boosters Tournament and the faculty game will go towards the Dollars For Scholars Fund. Proceeds from tonight's games will go to the Boosters Club.

In Steubenville Sectional

Third Straight Title Eyed By Potter Cagers

East Liverpool will be out to win its third straight AA sectional basketball title tonight at the Steubenville Diocesan Arena at 8 p.m.

The Potters meet a Steubenville Big Red team that is vastly improved since East Liverpool won 64-39 here earlier this season. Kenny Allen, ineligible at that time, has returned to add firepower to the Big Red attack. Allen, 6-3, along with 6-3 Ted Freeman and 6-4 Ross Mike, gives Steubenville a tall, solid front line. In addition, Big Red has an outstanding guard in Gary Repella, 6-0, who seems to have cured his habit of turning the ball over on every play. Clarence Bennett is the fifth starter, and Coach Chuck Watt has good depth, with Charlie Wise and Jeff Spahn top back-court replacements and Mike Radakovich and Steve Malbasa able to bolster the front line.

Steubenville is 9-10, having downed Wintersville and Steubenville Central in tournament play to get to the finals. East Liverpool is 18-1 after an easy win over Jefferson Union in the tourney.

The Potters are expected to start Jerry Christian, Bill Montgomery, Dan Cunningham, John Johnson and Rick Steffen. Christian has averaged 34 points a game the past three games, but will be hard pressed to match that figure against the tall Big Red, and the Potters will need outside firepower from the rest of the team to advance to the district tournament in Steubenville next week.

In one other area game tonight Lisbon meets North Lima for the championship of one of the Struthers Class A sectionals. The Blue Devils are 10-10 with two tourney wins. North Lima is 14-5 and whipped Columbiana in the tournament opener. Bill McMeans, 6-6, was sick against Columbiana, but he is usually the Zippers leading pointmaker. Jim Courtney leads Gary Pike's Lisbon team, backed by Jim Taylor, Lee Smith and Roger James. Dave McCamon has missed the last two games due to an ankle injury, and is a doubtful starter tonight. Francis Gardner will take McCamon's spot if he is unable to play.

Seagren Tries 18-Foot Barrier Again At Philly

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Olympic champion Bob Seagren is running out of chances to crack the 18-foot pole vault barrier as the indoor season nears its close tonight with the 81st National AAU Indoor Track and Field Championships.

Other Olympic winners assembled among the more than 400 athletes for this meet at the Spectrum are Willie Davenport, Bob Beamon and Madeline Manning.

More than 30 of the outstanding performers on the 11-lap track, which has been borrowed from Baltimore, will be rewarded with tours which include Europe, the West Indies and Japan later this month to compete against other foreign nations.

Seagren, of the Southern California Striders who holds both the indoor and outdoor world records for his specialty at 17 feet, 6 inches and 17-9, has a simple philosophy:

"The more I compete, the more chances I have to reach 18 feet."

Seagren has entered 12 meets this indoor season, inching closer to his goal with two world-shattering performances, but time is running out with only the NCAA championships remaining after tonight.

Davenport will be gunning for his 15th straight hurdles victory. The Baton Rouge, La., speedster will be going in the 60-yard high hurdles against the 24 finishers at the Mexico City Games—Erv Hall of Villanova and Leon Coleman of the Southern California Striders.

Hall has been successful except when he faces the fleet Davenport, and the Wildcats ace admits, "I'd have to concede that Willie's probably the best indoors."

Another of the world's best indoors is George Young, the Casa Grande, Ariz., school-teacher who hasn't lost on the boards in two years and has a string of 17 triumphs.

The 31-year-old Young, who has announced he will quit the sport after tonight's race, will be going in the three-mile run. Only last week at San Diego he tied the world standard for the two-mile at 8:27.2.

Beamon, the world's best in the long jump, will be favored to capture that title if his injured leg, which has bothered him throughout the indoor season, is mended. If not, Ralph Boston and Phil Shinnick of the Southern California Striders could take the honors.

Miss Manning, the women's 800-meter champion at the Olympics, is expected to handle the field in tonight's 880-yard run while a flock of other Olympians will aim for more glory.

Ohio U. Wrestlers Lead In Tournament

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Surprising Ohio University holds a six-point lead over favored Toledo going into the championship round today of the Mid-American Conference wrestling tournament.

The Bobcats, rated at best as a dark horse prior to the tourney, rolled up 63 points in the opening two rounds.

Following the Bobcats are Toledo with 57, Kent State 47, Western Michigan 37, defending champion Miami 35, Bowling Green 23 and Marshall, scoreless.

Will Take Non-Playing Job

Mantle Expected To Hang 'Em Up

By MIKE BRYSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

Mickey Mantle is expected to disclose his future plans today and there is speculation the veteran New York Yankee slugger will announce he's calling it quits after 18 seasons to accept a non-playing post with the Yanks.

The 37-year-old belter, famed for his tape-measure homers, is scheduled to report sometime today to New York's training camp at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and discuss his future with club officials.

There have been numerous reports since the close of last season that the soft-spoken superstar is considering retirement, but Mantle has refused to confirm or deny them.

However, Mantle and the Yankees reportedly worked out an informal agreement sometime ago that he would be given a post with the team when he decided to end his playing career.

While the Yankees are faced with a potential permanent holdout, the Houston Astros were still reeling today over one that became a surprising reality Friday.

Donn Clendenon, property of three different teams in six months who wound up with the Astros in a controversial deal, informed the team he isn't interested in playing for anyone.

Instead, he said, he's taking a position as vice president of an Atlanta firm for which he has worked in the off-season and will help Negro players obtain jobs after their careers end.

Meanwhile, the holdout list grew shorter, but Washington's big Frank Howard and St. Louis' Bob Gibson head a list of notables still unsigned.

Howard, the American League's top homer producer last year, flew back to Green Bay, Wis., after an unsuccessful contract talk with Bob Short, new owner of the Senators.

Howard reportedly is seeking a three-year contract at $100,000 a year, but Short is opposed to long-term pacts.

Denison Holds Lead In Wrestling Meet

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Defending champion Denison took a two-point lead over Wittenberg, Ohio Wesleyan and Baldwin-Wallace Friday night in the first round of the Ohio Conference wrestling championships.

Denison scored 15 points and placed eight wrestlers in the semi-finals. The other three teams each scored 13 points. Ohio Wesleyan qualified seven men, Baldwin-Wallace five and Wittenberg four.

The tournament ends Saturday night. Other team scores at the end of the first round: Wooster 11, Heidelberg 10, Muskingum, Hiram and Capital 7; Oberlin 4, Marietta and Mount Union 3, Otterbein and Kenyon

Princeton Wins Ticket To NCAA

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Hold that tiger!

Princeton's Tigers won the Ivy League championship by edging Columbia 60-59 in New York Friday night and gained an automatic berth in the post-season NCAA Tournament that determines the National Collegiate basketball champion.

It was the Tigers' 10th straight victory and their 14th in their last 15 games since losing to top-ranked UCLA and second-ranked North Carolina in the New York Holiday Festival last December. The one defeat in that 15-game span was to fifth-ranked Davidson.

Unbeaten UCLA, after an unprecedented third straight national title, clinched at least a tie for the Pacific-8 crown by whipping Stanford on the road 81-60. Curtis Rowe had 25 points and All-American Lew Alcindor, playing only part of the game, scored 19 in leading the Bruins to their 39th in a row, 23 this season.

Davidson downed Richmond 97-83 and gained the finals of the Southern Conference championship tourney against East Carolina, which came from behind to defeat George Washington 84-79. Fourth-ranked Santa Clara whipped Pepperdine 62-52. Temple conquered Gettysburg 86-70 and St. Joseph's, Pa. overcame Bucknell 83-67 to reach the finals of the Middle Atlantic Conference playoffs, and Texas A&M, the Southwest champ, warmed up for its NCAA competition by ripping Southern Methodist 119-98.

Colorado State U., an NCAA at-large entry, lost to Texas-El Paso 78-55 while Seattle, another NCAA at-large entry, whipped Seattle Pacific 57-47. Jeff Petrie, a 6-foot-3 junior, paced Princeton with 27 points as the Tigers withstood a late Columbia rally. Tiger rosters now hope for a repeat of the 1965 NCAA tourney, the senior year of super-star Bill Bradley, when Princeton surprised by gaining third place in the finals at Portland, Ore.

Cornell beat Penn 64-62. Brown edged Harvard 68-67. Rhode Island upset Massachusetts 57-56. Dartmouth defeated Yale 74-62. Washington State got by Oregon State 62-60. Oregon took Washington 79-75 and Southern Cal tripped California, 76-67, in other games.

Don McLane Resigns At Steubenville

STEUBENVILLE — Donald C. McLane, for the past three years head basketball coach at The College of Steubenville, has resigned effective at the end of the college year, according to an announcement made today by the Rev. Columba J. Devlin, T.O.R., president.

McLane cited personal reasons, and a desire to pursue a career in administration on the high school level, for his resignation. He recently received the Master's degree in counseling and guidance at Duquesne University.

McLane's first year was his most successful, when the team won 14 and lost nine. The past two years his squad has been riddled with injuries, and his team won only nine games in that period.

An alumnus of the College, McLane was a stellar performer and captained the team during the 1955-56 season when it won 29 and lost five games. Upon his graduation he was drafted by the Syracuse club of the NBA, but elected to take a position with U.S. Steel in Homestead, Pa. instead. He later entered the teaching profession.

He came to Steubenville from West Mifflin South, Pa., high school, where he had been coaching for five years.

Aaron, 2 Others Tie For Lead In Doral Open Play

By SHEILA MORAN

Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI (AP) — Tommy Aaron has won more than $250,000 on the professional golf tour but after nine years of trying he has yet to savor the taste of victory.

"It's a long time since I've tied for the lead in a tournament," the 32-year-old Georgian said Friday after firing a 68 to share the first spot at nine-under-par 135 at the halfway mark of the $150,000 Doral Open.

"They say it's easier to win when you've won one," he said, "but I don't know how that feels."

Aaron, the tour's winningest loser, sipped a soft drink after firing his four-under-par round on Doral's sun-washed layout as he recounted a trip that included an eagle three on the 533-yard first hole.

Tommy says he keeps thinking about winning all the way to the bank. He cashed in frequently as last year's 15th highest money winner and this year's third-place finisher at San Diego.

He admits he's been unable to resist the temptation to fiddle with his game.

"But I always go back to what I was doing," he said. "I usually don't play as well when I try something new."

For the next two days, Aaron says he'll be thinking of one thing in his drive for Doral's $30,000 first prize: "Just shooting lower than anyone else."

Davidson downed Richmond 97-83 and gained the finals of the Southern Conference championship tourney against East Carolina, which came from behind to defeat George Washington 84-79. Fourth-ranked Santa Clara whipped Pepperdine 62-52. Temple conquered Gettysburg 86-70 and St. Joseph's, Pa. overcame Bucknell 83-67 to reach the finals of the Middle Atlantic Conference playoffs, and Texas A&M, the Southwest champ, warmed up for its NCAA competition by ripping Southern Methodist 119-98.

Colorado State U., an NCAA all-time leader, lost to Texas-El Paso 78-58 while Seattle, another NCAA at-large entry, whipped Seattle Pacific 57-47. Jeff Petrie, a 6-foot-3 junior, paced Princeton with 27 points as the Tigers withstood a late Columbia rally. Tiger rooters now hope for a repeat of the 1965 NCAA tourney, the senior year of super-star Bill Bradley, when Princeton surprised by gaining third place in the finals at Portland, Ore.

Cornell beat Penn 64-62. Brown edged Harvard 68-67. Rhode Island upset Massachusetts 57-56. Dartmouth defeated Yale 74-62. Washington State got by Oregon State 62-60. Oregon took Washington 79-75 and Southern Cal tripped California, 76-67, in other games.

Don McLane Resigns At Steubenville

STEUBENVILLE — Donald C. McLane, for the past three years head basketball coach at The College of Steubenville, has resigned effective at the end of the college year, according to an announcement made today by the Rev. Columbia J. Devlin, T.O.R., president.

McLane cited personal reasons, and a desire to pursue a career in administration on the high school level, for his resignation. He recently received the Master's degree in counseling and guidance at Duquesne University.

McLane's first year was his most successful, when the team won 14 and lost nine. The past two years his squad has been riddled with injuries, and his team won only nine games in that period.

An alumnus of the College, McLane was a stellar performer and captained the team during the 1955-56 season when it won 29 and lost five games. Upon his graduation he was drafted by the Syracuse club of the NBA, but elected to take a position with U.S. Steel in Homestead, Pa. instead. He later entered the teaching profession.

He came to Steubenville from West Milford South, Pa., high school, where he had been coaching for five years.

Aaron, 2 Others Tie For Lead In Doral Open Play

By SHEILA MORAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI (AP) — Tommy Aaron has won more than $250,000 on the professional golf tour but after nine years of trying he has yet to savor the taste of victory.

"It's a long time since I've tied for the lead in a tournament," the 32-year-old Georgian said Friday after firing a 68 to share the first spot at nine-under-par 135 at the halfway mark of the $150,000 Doral Open.

"They say it's easier to win when you've won one," he said, "but I don't know how that feels."

Aaron, the tour's winningest loser, sipped a soft drink after firing his four-under-par round on Doral's sun-washed layout as he recounted a trip that included an eagle three on the 533 yard first hole.

Tommy says he keeps thinking about winning all the way to the bank. He cashed in frequently as last year's 15th highest money winner and this year's third-place finisher at San Diego.

He admits he's been unable to resist the temptation to fiddle with his game.

"But I always go back to what I was doing," he said. "I usually don't play as well when I try something new."

For the next two days, Aaron says he'll be thinking of one thing in his drive for Doral's $30,000 first prize: "Just shooting lower than anyone else."

Aaron's chief contenders are Tom Shaw, the tour's 26-year-old personality boy who's also looking for his first victory, and steady Dan Sikes, a Jacksonville, Fla., lawyer dubbed the Florida Chicken Baron because of his investment in fried chicken drive-ins.

Shaw and Sikes both shot second-round 70s to give them 135 after 36 holes. They matched 65s in the first round to tie the Doral tournament record.

Former Yankee pitchers Steve Barber, Jim Bouton, Roland Sheldon and Bill Stafford and former Yankee infielders Mike Hegan, John Kennedy and Mike Ferraro are members of the Seattle Pilots, new team in the American League.

Woman Driver Hurt

As Car Leaves Road

An East Palestine woman was treated in St. Elizabeth Hospital, Youngstown, for injuries received in a one-car accident early today on the Waterford Rd. just east of Route 46.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Louella J. Little, 31, of 1120 Howell St. was driving west when her car left the road, hit a ditch and struck a farm fence.

Patrolmen said she was not at the scene when they arrived. The accident was timed at 3:15 this morning.

Split In Peru May Hurt U.S.

LIMA, Peru (AP) — A split in Peru's five-month-old revolutionary government appeared today to augur a further deterioration in the nation's already-strained relations with the United States.

The split surfaced Friday with the resignation of Finance Minister Angel Valdivia from the Cabinet of generals. Reports circulated in the capital that Development Minister Alberto Maldonado and perhaps the directors of the state oil agency also were on their way out.

A U.S. Embassy official expressed dismay at the resignation of Valdivia, generally regarded as the most moderate and pro-American member of the military regime.

A Junior Editors Quiz About SPACE AGE

QUESTION: In what age are we living?

ANSWER: About 6000 B.C. the New Stone Age, or Neolithic Period, began. By this time, early men were making much improved tools and were beginning to domesticate animals and grow crops like wheat and rice. As metals came to be used, we had the Bronze and Iron Ages, beginning about 3000 B.C. This was the time civilizations were developing and the first written records were being made. What we call ancient times stretch from about 3000 B.C. to the fall of Rome in the 400's. Medieval times reach from then to the end of the Byzantine Empire in 1453, when the period of history we are now living in, called modern times, began. From the point of view of the geologists, who study the whole story of the earth, we are living in the Cenozoic Era, which is the Quaternary Period, and we are in the last part of this period, which is called the Recent Epoch, starting 10,000 to 25,000 years ago. There is another way we can locate ourselves in time. On October 4, 1957, the Russian satellite Sputnik I soared into the region called space. This was the beginning of what we call the Space Age. It is thrilling to think we are living in it!

Health Council To Meet Monday

LISBON — The Columbiana County Health Advisory Council will hold its annual meeting at 8 p.m. Monday in the Health Department rooms at the Courthouse.
Council is the agency through which the public has a voice in the operation of the County Health Department serving the General Health District — all the county except the four cities.
Comprised of chairmen of the boards of trustees in the 18 townships and mayors of the nine villages, Council meets the first Monday in March to fill vacancies on the board of health and reorganize for the next annual meeting.
The term of Glen Hawkins of Rogers, a plumber and vice president of the Board of Health, expires this year. He has served two five-year terms.
Don Sanor of Butler Township, council chairman, will preside.

Of the citrus fruits, the Satsuma orange, which can stand temperatures as low as 18 degrees, can be grown farthest north.

Senior Citizens Given Reports

Frank Grogg presented a progress report on the High-rise building program at the meeting of East Liverpool area Senior Citizens Thursday afternoon at the parish hall of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church. There were 109 present.
Guy Kentler and Hilda Brennen presented the sick and shut-in report.
Named to the March kitchen committee were Eunice Hogenfeld, Sara Welner, Mary Montgomery and Lela Hissam. Sadye Knapp and Mary Fletcher gave readings and the choir, directed by Miss Mildred Rose, sang several selections. Nell Pelley was accompanist.
Eula Shilling was presented the corsage. Margaret Datwyler presided.

More Land Owners Join In Conservation

LISBON — Supervisors of the Columbiana Soil and Water Conservation District during February approved applications of four land owners for planning conservation practices.
The new cooperators are Dale B. McKams of Hanoverton RD 1, tracts of 75 and 81 acres in Franklin Township and 234 acres in Wayne Township; Kenneth Dustman of Salem RD 3, 165 acres in Salem Township; Robert G. Potts of Hanoverton RD 1, 89 acres in Hanover Township, and William H. Voderrey Jr. of East Liverpool, 3,469 acres in Middleton Township.

ANN LANDERS

Suffering Wife's Advice

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to say a few words to the wife who decides to keep quiet and suffer in silence rather than break up her marriage with a nice but immature husband who indulges in an occasional affair.
A woman need not go completely to pieces merely because her husband behaves like a jackass from time to time. Many a good man has become victimized by a predatory female and doesn't know how to escape from her clutches. Here are a few rules for a wife who suspects her husband is having an affair:

1. Don't beg him to be faithful and don't cry or threaten him. This sort of noise goes in one ear and out the other.
2. Be mature, calm and steady. Let him know you have no intention of breaking up your marriage merely because he insists on acting like a fool.
3. Invite couples in, accept invitations. Stay in the social swim with family and friends.
4. Never utter one word against your husband to the children, to his mother, to your mother, or to anyone, for that matter. When he regains his sanity he'll appreciate your loyalty.
5. Make love, not war. Remember, a man has only so much energy. What he expends at home cannot be expended elsewhere. — EXPERIENCED.

Dear Experienced: Your counsel is sane, sensible and practical. It takes a strong woman to carry it off, however. Not all wives are equal to it.

The Name Game

Dear Ann: For years I have been reading in etiquette books.

Pastor Assumes Club Presidency

LISBON — The Rev. Frederick Shiltz of the Lisbon and Elkton United Methodist churches received the president's gavel from Bennett D. Taylor Jr. at the Kiwanis Club luncheon Thursday in the Eagles Home. Rev. Shiltz had been vice president.
An executive of Columbiana Council, Boy Scouts of America, Taylor resigned the presidency since he will leave the local Boy Scout post March 15 to become assistant executive for the Mahoning Valley Council in Youngstown.
Robert Howells, a senior at United High School, discussed the Future Farmers of America. He is president of the FFA Chapter at United and has set as personal goals recognition as "state" and "national" farmer in the FFA program.
Karl Stoudt was program chairman.

To Why Do They Do It? Drug users do it for a variety of reasons — disappointment, insecurity, to get out of the dumps, to combat fatigue, to escape boredom, to remove inhibitions, to induce sleep, to feel peppy and, alas, to experiment with something they've been hearing about so they can say they, too, have had the experience.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

I live in a city where no one knew my husband. They know me as the owner of a thriving beauty salon. If someone wanted to cancel or make an appointment after hours, they looked in the phone book for Mrs. Blow, not my husband Joe.

A socially prominent divorcee or widow has the privilege of being known as Mrs. Charlotte Ford Uiarcho or Mrs. Mary Lasker. But heaven help a woman if she's a nobody.

I remember so well that Alice Roosevelt Longworth said years ago, "I'm me, not my dead husband's shadow. Please call me Alice Roosevelt Longworth." And they did. — ANONYMOUS MRS.

Dear Mrs.: I'm not a slave to any one etiquette book. I've said repeatedly that good manners are based on good sense. If a widow or divorcee would prefer to be called Mrs. Mary Blow, that should settle it.

Officers Cite Driver After East End Crash

A 26-year-old motorist was cited by police as an aftermath of a two-car collision Friday at 2 p.m. in East End.

The crash on Pennsylvania Ave. at Sylvan St. involved a 1964 sedan driven by Vincent Maola, 56, of 525 Wedgewood St. and a 1961 auto operated by Charles Braham of 1196 Pennsylvania Ave. It dinged the front of Maola's car and the left front of Braham's auto.

Officers cited Braham on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way. Maola told police he was driving east on Pennsylvania Ave. about 25 miles an hour when Braham's auto emerged from Sylvan St., turning left. Braham told police he was looking in both directions and then pulled onto the thoroughfare, thinking he had time to make the turn.

Health Council

To Meet Monday

LISBON — The Columbiana County Health Advisory Council will hold its annual meeting at 8 p.m. Monday in the Health Department rooms at the Courthouse. Council is the agency through which the public has a voice in the operation of the County Health Department serving the General Health District — all the county except the four cities.

Comprised of chairmen of the boards of trustees in the 18 townships and mayors of the nine villages, Council meets the first Monday in March to fill vacancies on the board of health and reorganize for the next annual meeting.

The term of Glen Hawkins of Rogers, a plumber and vice president of the Board of Health, expires this year. He has served two five-year terms.

Don Sanor of Butler Township, council chairman, will preside.

Of the citrus fruits, the Satsuma orange, which can stand temperatures as low as 18 degrees, can be grown farthest north.

ANN LANDERS

Suffering Wife's Advice

By

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to say a few words to the wife who decides to keep quiet and suffer in silence rather than break up her marriage with a nice but immature husband who indulges in an occasional affair. A woman need not go completely to pieces merely because her husband behaves like a jackass from time to time. Many a good man has become victimized by a predatory female and doesn't know how to escape from her clutches. Here are a few rules for a wife who suspects her husband is having an affair:

1. Don't beg him to be faithful and don't cry or threaten him. This sort of noise goes in one ear and out the other.

2. Be mature, calm and steady. Let him know you have no intention of breaking up your marriage merely because he insists on acting like a fool.

3. Invite couples in, accept invitations. Stay in the social swim with family and friends.

4. Never utter one word against your husband to the children, to his mother, to your mother, or to anyone, for that matter. When he regains his sanity he'll appreciate your loyalty.

5. Make love, not war. Remember, a man has only so much energy. What he expends at home cannot be expended elsewhere. — EXPERIENCED.

Dear Experienced: Your counsel is sane, sensible and practical. It takes a strong woman to carry it off, however. Not all wives are equal to it.

The Name Game

Dear Ann: For years I have been reading in etiquette books.

Pastor Assumes Club Presidency

LISBON — The Rev. Frederick Shiltz of the Lisbon and Elkton United Methodist churches received the president's gavel from Bennett D. Taylor Jr. at the Kiwanis Club luncheon Thursday in the Eagles Home. Rev. Shiltz had been vice president.

An executive of Columbiana Council, Boy Scouts of America, Taylor resigned the presidency since he will leave the local Boy Scout post March 15 to become assistant executive for the Mahoning Valley Council in Youngstown.

Robert Howells, a senior at United High School, discussed the Future Farmers of America. He is president of the FFA Chapter at United and has set as personal goals recognition as "state" and "national" farmer in the FFA program.

Karl Stoudt was program chairman.

Officers Cite Driver

After East End Crash

A 26-year-old motorist was cited by police as an aftermath of a two-car collision Friday at 2 p.m. in East End.

The crash on Pennsylvania Ave. at Sylvan St. involved a 1964 sedan driven by Vincent Maola, 56, of 525 Wedgewood St. and a 1961 auto operated by Charles Braham of 1196 Pennsylvania Ave. It damaged the front of Maola's car and the left front of Braham's auto.

Officers cited Braham on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way. Maola told police he was driving east on Pennsylvania Ave. about 25 miles an hour when Braham's auto emerged from Sylvan St., turning left. Braham told police he looked in both directions and then pulled onto the thoroughfare, thinking he had time to make the turn.

Confidentially

To Why Do They Do It? Drug users do it for a variety of reasons — disappointment, insecurity, to get out of the dumps, to combat fatigue, to escape boredom, to remove inhibitions, to induce sleep, to feel peppier and, alas, to experiment with something they've been hearing about so they can say they, too, have had the experience.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

I live in a city where no one knew my husband. They know me as the owner of a thriving beauty salon. If someone wanted to cancel or make an appointment after hours, they looked in the phone book for Mrs. Blow, not my husband Joe.

A socially prominent divorcee or widow has the privilege of being known as Mrs. Charlotte Ford Uiarcho or Mrs. Mary Lasker. But heaven help a woman if she's a nobody.

I remember so well that Alice Roosevelt Longworth said years ago, "I'm me, not my dead husband's shadow. Please call me Alice Roosevelt Longworth." And they did. — ANONYMOUS MRS.

Dear Mrs.: I'm not a slave to any one etiquette book. I've said repeatedly that good manners are based on good sense. If a widow or divorcee would prefer to be called Mrs. Mary Blow, that should settle it.
